

U. S. Military Needs Cannot be Linked To Local Interests

McNamara Says Program Resists Pressure Groups

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today shifts in military requirements and spending under the administration's reappraisal of defenses cannot be softened "to accommodate local or private interests."

Hard choices must be made and "pressures of special interest groups resisted," he said.

In his first formal address as secretary, the former Ford Motor Co. executive, said that steps were being taken to ease the impact on communities and industries of military contract cancellations and closing of bases.

McNamara's views were in an address at a luncheon of Associated Press members holding their annual meeting.

Kennedy's Instructions
In developing the new pattern for defense, McNamara said, he received two basic instructions from President Kennedy:

1. The defense program "must not be constructed within arbitrary budget ceilings."

2. While the size and form of the military organization were in the process of reappraisal to make sure they were adequate and up-to-date, "at the same time every possible effort must be made to

New Court May Relieve Heavy Backlog of Cases

A special series of six articles will be presented to Post-Crescent readers this week on Wisconsin's court reorganization act, and the creation of a third branch of the County Court in Outagamie County.

The articles will outline possible effects that both will have on other courthouse offices, such as the clerk of courts and district attorney.

The probable need for a building program at the courthouse this year to provide a room for the new court and more office space, also will be discussed.

First of the six articles appears on Page B-12 of today's Post-Crescent. It tells what the state's court system will be like after the reorganization act goes into effect next Jan. 1.

Staff Writer Reiny Wessing compiled and wrote the series.

Allies and French People Rally to De Gaulle Support

Fliers, Tars In Algeria Defy Junta

PARIS (AP)—Major allies and millions of Frenchmen rallied behind President Charles de Gaulle today in his struggle with army mutineers in Algeria. French airmen and sailors in Algeria were reported defying the junta of retired generals.

The government again closed all the nation's airports late today, and renewed its call for vigilance against an airborne invasion by mutinous French forces.

Paris and other major cities resembled an armed camp. Reservists were called up to strengthen the defenses of France.

Reports reaching Paris said paratroops controlled by the junta surrounded the Maimon Blanche (White House) airport outside Algiers where navy and air force planes are stationed.

These reports said the paratroops moved in after the airmen and sailors demonstrated against the junta of Gen. Maurice Challe, himself an air force officer.

9 Jets Flee Algeria

Another demonstration of air force discontent with the junta was the flight from Algeria of nine warplanes. The planes, including five jets, flew into France to join loyal units. The information ministry confirmed the flight but would give no further details. The junta in Algiers had previously claimed to control all airfields in the territory.

Labor unions of all political shades halted work from one end of the nation to the other for an hour. Only essential services were maintained as the workers showed their loyalty to De Gaulle. Reports indicated 10 million workers took part.

President Kennedy sent a personal message of support to the general. Joseph B. Godber, British undersecretary for foreign affairs, expressed Britain's friendship for France in the hour of commons and declared: "A strong and United France is vital to the freedom of the world."

Defenses Bolstered

The reservists were called up to beef up regular troop units and to provide leadership for the hastily mobilized civil defense militia. Premier Michel Debre said military units will be "reinforced by individual call up which will permit the constitution of reserve units with regular officers."

Debre announced the callup after a night of electric tension sparked by his own warning that the government feared an airborne attempt to seize the French capital.

The invasion didn't materialize during the night and some of the special precautions were relaxed. But the French air force remained on the alert and jet interceptor squadrons were ordered to fire on any unauthorized plane from Algeria.

As the right-wing mutineers in Algeria claimed more and more of the troops there were joining their rebellion against De Gaulle's Algerian policy, labor and professional organizations from left to right called on their members to defend the republic.

Volunteers by the hundreds streamed to the Interior Ministry in Paris, clamoring for arms. They were given rifles or carbines and partial uniforms, organized into 10-man squads and sent out to guard public buildings.

As dawn broke over the French capital, thousands of tank-supported troops and security forces were on guard at key points.

Much of France went on a virtual war footing after Premier Michel Debre told a nationwide

Some May be Spared
What Castro had to say about the captured rebels — he said there are 438 of them — and others of the thousands rounded up in Cuba on charges of disloyalty to the Communist-dominated regime sent a chill through the Cuban community in exile in Florida.

There was a hint that Castro might spare some from the firing squads. He implied that clemency would depend on a pledge from the United States to end any attempt to oust communism from Cuba.

Castro put it this way: "Now the imperialists are promoting a campaign in Latin America to seek clemency for the invader captives. Certain rulers of Latin America are promoting a movement of condemnation of Cuba and a movement for clemency."

Rumors Dispelled
"We are going to tell them first to ask the CIA and the United States for clemency for the children who were murdered here, that they have clemency for the victims of their bombs, that the bringing of weapons to Cuba ceases, that the supply of explosives stop."

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The broken superstructure of a 1,400-ton man-of-war which capsized on her maiden voyage three centuries ago emerged from Stockholm harbor today and thousands of Swedes cheered.

A salvage crew began raising the Wasa, once the flagship of Sweden's warrior King Gustavus Adolphus. The sunken hulk is cradled in a special net of nine-inch steel wires attached to pontoons on the surface.

The Wasa went down on Aug. 10, 1628 in full battle array, to the dismay of her designers. Through the centuries all attempts to raise her have failed.

Navy frogmen and divers spent more than 1,500 hours below surface working on the wreck.

Kennedy Mum On Outburst By Cuban Chief

President Moves

Regarding Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official Washington withheld immediate comment today on a salvo of accusations fired at President Kennedy by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Spokesmen here declined to give a quick response to Castro's charge that "the threat of Kennedy is much like the threat of Hitler" and that the U.S. administration threatens the world with war.

Kennedy moved to build up greater unity for his position on Cuba and for possible future action on the thorny problem of growing Communist prestige in the Caribbean island.

Kennedy, greeting the neutralist Southeast Asian leader, praised him as "a distinguished national leader, the father of his country, and a leader of the world."

The American chief executive said Sukarno throughout his life had devoted himself to the building of the Indonesian nation.

Troops Airlifted To Front in Laos

Struggle Continues in Final Hour Before Truce

VIENTIANE (AP)—Hundreds of government troops were airlifted to the front north of Vientiane today to shore up crumbling defenses against the pro-Communist rebels in the final hours before a cease-fire in the civil war.

Pathet Lao rebels pushed southward along the main north-south highway during the weekend, sending royal army troops into a headlong retreat of 30 to 40 miles.

Thus the rebels bolstered their position as India agreed to convene a three-nation commission to supervise a truce which would freeze military lines. A formal appeal for a cease-fire is expected from Britain and the Soviet Union tomorrow.

3 Advisers Missing

Three American military advisers may have been captured in the rebel thrust to Vang Vieng, a major government military headquarters 80 miles north of here on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway linking the administrative and royal capitals.

There were conflicting reports on the fate of the Americans, but one source said one of them was wounded.

He said they were not wearing U. S. uniforms because the advisory group — converted from a nominal civilian to military status at the request of the royal government last week — did not have time to provide equipment for all its men in the field.

Sheboygan Firm Complies With NLRB Order on Rehiring

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—Former strikers rehired by the Kohler Co. under National Labor Relations Board order today began a 40-hour work week for the first time since last October.

The NLRB advised the company last week that it was not in compliance with its order to rehire workers by giving them only 32 hours of work a week.

However, a company spokesman said that the NLRB announcement did not prompt the firm's decision to lengthen the work week.

"The decision to return to the 40 hour work week was made prior to the directive from the NLRB's compliance division," said L. L. Smith, executive vice-president. "The return nevertheless will relieve the company from a possible serious payback obligation."

Union officials estimated that the company may have to pay back about $350,000 to 1,150 former strikers for the difference between the 32-hour and 40-hour work weeks from last October until the present.

The NLRB said the company should return to the 40-hour week even if the action meant dismissal of striker replacements hired during the six-year strike. Smith said the firm has no plans to discharge any of the 200 replacements.

17 legislative proposals, pushing his program total up to 33. More may be forthcoming.

Additional Requests
 These additional requests include such major matters as his tax, highway and foreign aid programs, his proposal to establish a permanent peace corps and recommendations for changes in regulatory agencies.

The Democratic leader said he expects bills to carry out Kennedy's aid to education and housing programs to be ready for Senate consideration next week.

A Senate labor subcommittee will act on the education measure Thursday, along with a companion bill to provide loans for parochial and private schools. A banking subcommittee is expected to vote on the housing bill by midweek.

May Offer Proposal
 Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said his committee will take up a House-passed social security expansion bill in about 10 days. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N. M., has said he may offer a proposal for health care for the aged as an amendment.

There have been indications that the House Ways and Means Committee, which originates such measures, will not act this year on Kennedy's proposal for medical aid for the elderly. Few expect the House to accept any Senate-sponsored amendment in this field.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee may take up this week presidential proposals for revision of the Battle Act to permit trade with Iron Curtain countries under certain conditions.

Zoo Alligators Found In Youths' Bathtub

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The two alligators in the Marin County Museum here are so popular they're getting a bit thread-bare.

Assistant Curator Arthur Madson said he found their cage empty Sunday for the second time in a year. The museum's glass door had been broken and the zoo's food supply dumped on the floor.

Later Sunday both alligators recovered after police tapped to themselves. Lippert said the Cubans are all well-armed with Czech and Soviet weapons, and "it looked like 80 couple of 10-year-olds who, police were said, had been unable to resist the idea of showing the two dinosaurs off to their playmates."

Lippert remarked, "If they The kids were referred to juvenile weren't, they sure are armed enough to make trouble for him."

He can smile though—and this he does at his sister, Melissa, 4, while a brother, Mark, 3, watches. The Lollars live at Little Rock, Ark. The family has been deluged with mail from well wishers since the original Associated Press story appeared about their son. They have learned there may be a way to save the child.

Army Quiet About Birch Propaganda Use

General Walker Relieved of Command Pending Investigation of Charges

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The ruckus sparked by a newspaper and a U.S. general has simmered down while the Army takes a look at charges the general furnished his troops with propaganda from the John Birch Society.

Inquiries as to whether Gen. Edwin A. Walker is a member of the Birch Society have brought no answers from the Army or the general.

The Pentagon announced last Monday that Walker had been relieved of command of the 24th Division and put under wraps at U.S. Army European headquarters pending investigation of allegations by the Overseas Weekly, a privately owned American paper sold mainly to Europe-based troops.

Paper Makes Charges
 The paper had said Walker used his troop information program to spread Birch Society material among his men.

Walker's GIs seem generally agreed that his program, whatever it was, had little effect.

"It's a nutty idea," was one comment. One soldier questioned by newsmen said he heartily approved of the paper's expose. Asked why, he replied: "Because I don't like generals."

Soldier Confused
 His understanding of the political questions involved proved to be confused—he commented he was surprised to hear the general had been making "pro-Communist remarks."

Walker's program seems to have had most influence on officers and noncommissioned officers. Reaction from several often reflected their own political

Pilots Say Cubans Are Well Armed

MONTREAL (AP)—Two Canadian pilots flew their charter airliner back from Cuba today and reported almost all civilians are carrying arms in a quiet Cuba.

"It was like walking around in a concentration camp," said Capt. Ron Lippert, 28, of Montreal. He and co-pilot Guy Larose, 31, of Dorion, Que., were stranded in Cuba with their World Wide Airways C46 transport by last Monday's rebel invasion.

"There were people with guns all over the place," Lippert said. "But Canadians are well treated. We were free to go where we wanted, and they'll practically give Canadians the whole town."

Lippert said the Cubans are all well-armed with Czech and Soviet weapons, and "it looked like 80 couple of 10-year-olds who, police were said, had been unable to resist the idea of showing the two dinosaurs off to their playmates."

Lippert remarked, "If they The kids were referred to juvenile weren't, they sure are armed enough to make trouble for him."

Ask Senate To Check on Birch Society

N. Y. Republican Wants Probe Into Group's Finances

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, (R-N.Y.) wants a Senate probe of whether the John Birch Society is resorting to "harassment, intimidation and economic blackmail" against its critics.

Sen. Norris Cotton, (R-N.H.) says he doesn't think the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee should furnish "a publicity forum for those who desire to be investigated and wish to publicize their aims and purposes."

Cotton, a subcommittee member, told a reporter he doubted the internal security unit had jurisdiction and saw no reason at this time for any investigation of the militantly conservative organization.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is studying whether it has jurisdiction to probe the society founded by Robert Welch, retired Belmont, Mass., candy manufacturer. Welch has requested an investigation.

Keating, also a subcommittee member, said yesterday he wants the Senate to decide whether the John Birch Society should be required to account for "a potential income of over $18 million per year."

No Account
 In a program recorded for television and radio stations in New York, Keating said this was the potential income of the society under its dues schedule. He added, "Yet it is alleged that the society makes no accounting of its funds to its membership."

Keating said Congress should decide whether it ought to require the society and similar organizations to make financial reports to the government, as are required from labor unions.

"There are also disturbing reports which indicate the society is resorting to various forms of intimidation against its critics," Keating said, adding he does not know whether the reports are the final estimate of the deficit true.

But Keating said, "If it should of May there were no major turn out that harassment, intimidation and economic blackmail aids or in appropriations of other are being used to interfere with individual freedom, then possibly legislation ought to be devised to make up the $2.9 million short in 30 days, aid payments will have to be prorated and local mine whether the lobbying laws school districts will receive less and the corrupt practices act state aid than they are entitled to should be made applicable to the under state law."

Air of Tension in Paris Over Reports of Algerian Insurrection

U. S. Watching Situation With Dismay, Hope for De Gaulle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government today watched reports of the French army insurrection in Algeria with deep dismay and with hope that President Charles de Gaulle would quickly put it down.

The U.S. ambassador to Paris, James M. Gavin, reported early today on the air of tension there. Gavin has power to put into operation a number of steps for the safety of Americans if trouble develops. Communications from the U.S. consulate general at Algiers, center of the generals' rebellion, remained blacked out over the weekend.

Kennedy's Visit
 For the time being there was no plan to postpone President Kennedy's visit to Paris now scheduled for the end of May. Of major concern here was this same date a year ago peaceful settlement with Arab rebels on the future of Algeria. The United States has supported De Gaulle's program for self-determination for the North African land. The right-wing army junta is dedicated to keeping Algeria French regardless of the cost.

In the American view, the seven-year-old rebellion of the Arabs has drained France of men and money at cost to her contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and has inflamed nationalist sentiment around the world against France and her allies.

No Other Leader
 U.S. authorities see no other leader on the French scene who offers the hope De Gaulle does of handling the Algerian situation. Officials here also vividly recall the governmental instability that weakened France before De Gaulle took over in 1958. Between the end of World War II and the general's arrival at the helm France had a fast succession of more than 20 premiers.

With the Kennedy administration driving anew for a strengthening of NATO against what it considers a growing Communist threat worldwide, Washington wants strength and not chaos in the Paris government.

3 Teen-agers Die in State Highway Crashes

The deaths of three teen-agers in two weekend accidents have raised the 1961 Wisconsin highway toll to 239 compared with 199 on this same date a year ago.

Dale Hanson, 18, and Sandra Erickson, 18, both of Menominee, Mich., were killed and two others injured late Saturday night when their auto struck two trees 8 1/2 miles west of Marinette. The crash occurred along Marinette County Trunk E.

Del Bacon, 19, of Lac du Flambeau, was injured critically in the accident. Judy Allen, 17, of Menominee, Mich., was reported in fair condition. They were hospitalized at Menominee.

James Rasmussen, 18, of Racine, was killed Saturday when struck by a car. He was thrown onto the highway when his auto left Highway 11 just west of Sturtevant and struck a tree. The driver of one oncoming car swerved and missed him but a second car ran over his body. A passenger, John Woodford, 18, of Racine was injured.

WANTED YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN

Every year thousands of students graduate with no prospect of a job. They go from office to office to get positions in their chosen field and meet with the same answer, "sorry, but the field is crowded. We have many more applicants than positions." Unfortunately this situation should have been looked into thoroughly before selecting a life's work.

New fields are constantly being opened and with a little foresight are readily discernable. Chiropractic is just such a field. A comparatively new science with new principles of healing which will eventually displace the old.

In some communities people go for many miles to get Chiropractic service. The field in foreign countries has not been scratched. To a young man and woman selecting their life work the study of Chiropractic offers a great future. The sick need Chiropractic.

Information in regard to Chiropractic, various state requirements, colleges, etc. will be gladly furnished by your Chiropractor.

Nelson Gets Grip On Commission

New Appointees Mean Working Control of Conservation Unit

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Gov. Nelson's appointment of two new members of the six-member state conservation commission gives him working control, in effect, of a major and highly popular department with which he has had more difficulty than any other.

The governor has had generally good response from the state senate on his principal nominations to administrative positions, in spite of the fact that it is controlled by nominally hostile Republicans. As a result, senate confirmation of the nominations of Jack Schumacher, Shawano, and James R. Smaby, LaCrosse, is assumed.

First Selections

Two years ago Nelson picked Paul Olson, Madison, and John Lynch, Gordon, in his first selections for the commission. The only hold-overs from Republican regimes on the policy-making board will be Guido Rahr, Manitowoc, now chairman, and Charles F. Smith, Wausau.

It is not likely that the governor has an explicit understanding with his new nominees about his policies, or about how they should vote on the issues that will come before him. It also is unlikely they have not noted the widely publicized disagreements of the executive office and the conservation commission during the last three years. The capitol also is aware that Nelson reviewed the commission appointments with great care. Under the law, he could have made his choices two months ago. The delay suggests to observers that he was proceeding with great deliberation.

Actual installation of the new men will not take effect until July 1, which means that the retiring commissioners, Russell Stouffer, Shell Lake, and Arthur MacArthur, Janesville, will hold their posts until then. Their influence will be correspondingly reduced by the public announcement of their imminent replacement.

The circumstance of a prospective majority of Nelson men on the commission is likely to show its first result in an amicable settlement of a current disagreement about how the governor's "crash" program of recreational development should be directed — if the legislature enacts the measure he has submitted to it.

The governor has also consistently insisted that the commission should work more seriously on long-range resource development plans, rather than immediate and temporary goals.

Senate Wary

Although the Republican senate probably will examine the Nelson nominees warily, it does not seem probable that they will be vulnerable in a political sense. Schumacher is a Democrat who has been moderately active in recent campaigns. Last fall he was one of the governor's campaign supporters in a neighborhood that is heavily and historically Republican in voting behavior.

Schumacher will be paired at the hearing and on the senate roll calls with Smaby, who is an officer of one of the state's best known business enterprises and will therefore be respectfully greeted by the Republican senate leadership. He is vice president of the Gateway Transportation Co., LaCrosse.

Widely Known

Two years ago Nelson was similarly careful to avoid antagonizing the Republican senate. Lynch was widely known as a Democratic politician in northern Wisconsin, but Olson was named largely because of his work as a private conservation group leader and a professional educator.

Nelson's press release pointedly noted that both of his new commissioners are active sportsmen in their private capacities "but have also displayed a broad interest in conservation of soil, water, forests and wetlands. Nelson has repeatedly insisted that the conservation administration concepts must be broadened.

Bronchiectasis Is Common Lung Disorder, Molner Says

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about bronchiectasis? My husband went to a specialist who said he should have the infected part removed. Our family physician said he did not think it was that serious and to wait. My husband works hard and long hours. He also smokes and drinks heavily. Would this have any effect on his not feeling good and having a continuous cold?—Mrs. R. K."

Mrs. R. K. will have to wait until tomorrow to get some of the specific answers that her letter poses, but I want to thank her for reminding me of this topic, because it is an important one.

Bronchiectasis (bron-kee-ECK-

Dr. Molner

(tuh-sis) is a common lung disorder. Tuberculosis and lung cancer are the diseases that get all the attention in print, and if you started collaring people on the street, I suppose you'd find that just about everybody was thoroughly familiar with them. But only a few would recognize bronchiectasis, unless it was affecting some member of the family. Then they'd know.

Dilation of Tubes

Bronchiectasis means a dilation of the bronchial tubes, especially the smaller branches. These areas become infected, and there is a puddling of mucus and pus.

The symptoms include cough, copious foul sputum, bleeding, shortness of breath, fever, weakness. In fact, hemorrhage from this cause is more common than hemorrhage from tuberculosis.

Likewise this disease can occur among children as well as adults. In children, it may be due to some defect in lung development, which is the commonest cause in the young ones, or about 75 per cent of time, or it may follow pneumonia, whooping cough, or measles.

Primary Cause

In adults, some lung or respiratory infection is the primary cause as a rule, and chronic sinusitis is frequently associated with it—a good reason, I should say, for not giving in to the popular but mistaken belief that you can't do anything about sinus trouble, so why try. You can.

Another valuable bit of information to keep in mind is that chronic bronchiectasis is often attributed to "bronchitis." Well, to be technical, it is a form of bronchitis but not in the usual sense of the term as we customarily employ that word.

Bronchiectasis is annoying, stubborn and sometimes extremely dangerous, so it behooves us all to know the fundamentals concerning it. Tomorrow we'll talk a bit about how it is diagnosed, and treated, and answer the other questions asked specifically in today's letter.

Associated Press Directors Sum Up '60 Work

NEW YORK (AP)—The directors of the Associated Press said in their annual report today that "in a year of unusual and complex problems" the AP had provided its members with a service outstanding in scope.

The report, prepared for the annual meeting of AP members said: "The mere volume of the news was extraordinary, and its complexities offered a continuing challenge to reporting in a manner making the meaning of events understandable without departing from basic Associated Press principles of objectivity, accuracy and fairness."

Enterprise Copy

The board said it had "noted with satisfaction further expansion of enterprise copy—material developed by The Associated Press utilizing its unmatched worldwide facilities."

"These are projects designed to a long-term agreement with of science and 'emotion-charged United News of India, the AP crises in human relations on a worldwide front."

It said that in the pressure of getting out the news report there had been some lapses—"the ill-chosen word, the phrase subject to varying interpretations, some that greater care would have avoided."

"However," it said, "the board fails to find any significant departure from the fundamental fairness and impartiality of the news report. The validity of a news report can be judged only by the entire product, not by isolated words, phrases or sentences out of context of the entire dispatch."

The board said that in response to member editors' requests for greater attention to significant in-depth news of Canada and Latin America, staff writers were assigned to extensive trips in those areas.

"They produced splendid, incisive copy which, although played well by a number of member newspapers, probably merited wider usage than it received," it said.

New Countries

The report said coverage probably was magnified by the steady increase in the number of new countries notably in Africa.

"It was impossible to establish bureaus in all of them but the AP succeeded in keeping a flow of news from the principal trouble spots to an astounding degree, despite continued hazardous conditions and harassment," the board said.

Citing the Congo as an example, the board said AP members have benefited time after time from a program of keeping staffers at important news centers even when there is a relative calm.

"Naturally, the management rushes reinforcements on extraordinary stories, but there is no substitute for the experienced and well-backgrounded reporter on the spot when news breaks," the board said.

Made Money

The board said it noted with satisfaction that 1960 operations "resulted in a small excess of more than 60 per cent in 10 revenue over expenses, despite the heavy costs incurred in covering a large variety of events from said, 'less than $2,800,000 remote points, always an expensive operation, coupled with the seemingly never-ending inflation of costs generally.'"

It reported that revenues in 1960 were approximately $15 million greater than in 1959, a growth service—at home and abroad."

Estate Tax Returns Up

Other Taxes Little Altered, Department Tells Budget Group

MADISON — A substantial spurt in tax collections on estates and inheritances is the only significant current change in the state's tax collection experience, the legislature has been told by the state department of taxation.

John Gronouski, commissioner of taxation, told the legislative finance committee that inheritance tax yields have far surpassed the estimates of his department's experts and will reach $15 million for this year. The total will be about $15 million above the calculations of the department about a year ago.

More Assets Value

Relatively high values of securities and other assets counted in inheritances for tax purposes account for the unexpected boost in the yields of the tax, which are shared with local governments.

Gronouski said he is not yet able to report the trends in state personal income tax collections this year, but that he is guessing that the number of second installment taxpayers is higher because of unemployment increases in some of the state's cities.

Corporation income tax yield is down, but not significantly, while the beer and liquor excise taxes are bringing in slightly more than had been estimated, the state's chief tax collector said.

Used for Budgeting

The financial estimates are being used by the legislative committee in the preparation of the state's biennial budget.

The state will show a slight deficit in operating expenditures this year — a gap between tax income and total spending — and a larger deficit for the next two years, which will force some increase in state taxation.

"Of this increase," the board said, "less than $2,800,000 resulted from assessment adjustment members since the last decennial revision."

"In other words, nearly 80 per cent of the increased revenue in 1960 was derived from expansion of service—at home and abroad."

Castro Firmly in Power Once Again

Little Hope of Driving Reds Out After Abortive Revolt Fails

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN The status of Fidel may well have changed, though. Among careful observers of the Cuban scene there is a growing conviction that the Communists have taken a much more authoritative hand in the country's affairs. The Communist party may well have emerged from last week's developments with full and undisputed control of the country. There have been hints of this, new invasion attempt now would be the raise an immediate danger of Communists, has been calling his regime a "Socialist" revolution in the same sense as those of the Red bloc are supposed to be the Communists in the Cuban Socialist revolutions. In his speech Sunday, Fidel again pictured the U.S.S.R. as the day, Fidel Castro will be a better model for his country and he told Cubans Moscow is ready to help before the Communists. the nation.

Eliminate Enemies But if the Russians are going to act effectively to turn Cuba into something less than a madhouse in the eyes of the outside world, if they are going to organize the economy and stave off chaos, if they are going to regiment the nation's people as populations of other Communist lands have been regimented, then Fidel is going to have to toe the line. Except as a figurehead he may already be in a back seat, and as for the regime's enemies that may be the meaning of the outside Cuba. they are hurting week-long silence which he finally broke Sunday.

The Airport Decision

An important step towards continued physical and economic growth of the Fox Cities area was taken last week by the Outagamie County Board when it decided to develop a modern airport that will adequately serve this fast-growing industrial area.

The decision was not taken without mature study and expert advice nor was it taken without argument, differences of opinion of varied interests and full consideration of its immediate costs.

The airport question has been with us for many years and because a county board 20 years ago and others since vacillated and were indecisive, Outagamie County has fallen behind its neighboring counties, Brown and Winnebago, in airport development.

The location of the present county airport is unfortunate since it is boxed in by a superhighway, a railroad, the residential sections of the city and other prohibitions to expansion, problems similar to those faced by the Winnebago development south of Oshkosh.

But these problems now have been eliminated since the Outagamie board has selected a site six miles west of Appleton on Highway 10 at Highway 45. It is an area recommended by the Leigh Fisher consultants as ideal for an airport such as the one envisioned by the county board.

Chairman Mark Catlin and the county board's airport committee are to be congratulated for their long hours of hard work and their excellent presentation of the facts which convinced the majority of the county board that a big, modern airport having all of the essential safety facilities, is a major need here.

Another group which deserves credit in this decision is the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Air Service Committee which convinced the voters of Outagamie County 20 years ago that this area needed an adequate airport and since has labored to bring commercial air service to the Fox Cities and finally, planning for the construction of the airport to handle the number of flights needed here.

We hope that if any hard feelings were generated by the long, controversial discussions between rural and urban people they now will be written upon the sands and erased by the soft breezes of resumed friendliness.

This airport is a too long delayed need to help maintain a stabilized economy for both rural and urban interests.

Politics in Indonesia

Last year President Sukarno issued a decree which placed all political organizations under his power. He wanted, understandably, to "simplify" the political chaos which allowed more than 200 parties to take part in the 1955 elections. But the results so far don't encourage one's confidence in any real democracy in Indonesia.

Sukarno now has legalized officially eight political parties while two more may become authorized when they clear up some technical difficulties. Requirements are a membership of at least 150,000 and the signing of a pledge that the principles of the party are not in conflict with the philosophy of the state and are not attempting to change the goals of the state.

The anti-Communist Masjumi party was not authorized. Neither was the Socialist party. But the Communist, Nationalist, Catholic, Moslem Scholar, Islamic Association, Murba, Partindo and League for Upholding Indonesian Independence were legalized. The Protestant and Islamic Education parties are being further investigated.

Signing a pledge respecting the philosophy of the state, including its belief in God, bothered the Communists and the Murba, the local Red group, not a whit. But Sukarno eventually may be fooled by his idea that he can control political organizations when he includes the Reds with the rest. Eventually, unless Moscow or Peiping controls him or is making clear headway in that direction, Sukarno will be swept into the Java Sea still talking about guided democracy.

Alaska Stops a Trend

When Alaska came into the Union it not only put Texas in the shade but it literally thinned out the population of the entire nation. The Census Bureau has reported there were only 50.5 persons per square mile in the United States in 1960 whereas there were 50.7 in 1950. Until Alaska came along the United States had been enjoying a long trend toward greater population density. The huge state of Alaska actually has about 2.5 times as many square miles of land as it has human inhabitants. Thus if Alaska and Hawaii had been states in 1950 the population density of the nation at that time would have been only 42.6 persons per square mile instead of the 50.7 recorded. In 1900, the population density was 25.6 persons per square mile and if Alaska and Hawaii had been part of the nation at that time the density would have been only 21.5 persons per square mile.

Without Alaska and Hawaii, the United States had little to fear in the way of over-population. Compared to our 50 persons per square mile the Netherlands has 893 and Belgium 769. Rhode Island, the most densely populated state in the Union, has 812 persons per square mile and New Jersey is next with 806.6. While Alaska has only 1.4 persons per square mile, Nevada has 2.6 and Wyoming 3.4. These sparsely populated states, however, have a good deal of their real estate "standing on end" and very few persons ever will be able to cling to the thousands of acres which stand at rather steep inclines.

However, Alaska may supply many valuable minerals which will tend to support densely populated states such as Rhode Island and New Jersey. The least it can do of course is to provide great recreational areas for the thousands of people who some day will be crowded into the more productive states of the Union.

A New Aid for the Shipwrecked

People adrift on the ocean in the future will be able to provide themselves with fresh water through a new kind of "still" which recently has been developed at the Army Engineer Laboratory at Fort Belvoir, Va.

The still is described as looking like a small file of correspondence. It is made up of a minimum of five sheets. The top sheet is black plastic, the second a piece of paper toweling or cloth. The third is a water repellent screen. The fourth is a piece of aluminum foil. The fifth is a piece of cloth backing for the foil to cool it by the evaporation of water from the cloth. To produce water all that is necessary is to dip all of the sheets into the ocean wetting all of the cloth or paper toweling with sea water. Then the shipwrecked person drains off the excess water, wipes off the aluminum foil and exposes the top black surface to the sun. After a little while if the layers are opened exposing the aluminum surface, there will be a condensation of fresh water on the aluminum. This can be mopped up with a sponge and the thirsty person can suck the water out of the sponge.

If there is no sun out or if it is necessary to operate the still at night this can be done by sitting on the black surface. The heat of a person's body provides a temperature differential between the top surface warmed by the body and the aluminum surface cooled by the evaporation of sea water.

Obviously the output of fresh water is small but it is said to be sufficient if the shipwrecked person puts enough effort into operating his still and it is pretty well agreed that most shipwrecked persons will be willing to give it some effort. Most people will agree that it is better than nothing and if it should mean the difference between life and death it would be much better than nothing.

What Others are Saying

What You Can Do To Speed Upturn

From GRI

Many convincing signs indicate that the recession has hit bottom and that, indeed, an upward movement has begun. How rapid and substantial will be this rise depends upon a variety of factors. The federal government is doing many things to spur the economy. But there is a limit to what it can, or should, do. Much more can be accomplished through private initiative and action.

It is pointed out, for example, that the American people have some $300 million in savings. Wise use of some of these vast resources could do a great deal toward bringing back good times. More buying by the public right now will put people back to work who, in turn will put others to work.

Here then is what you should do. Look around for opportunities to spend as much as you can reasonably afford. Spend for goods or services you need and want and which you can put to good use. Spend now and spend wisely.

If you need a new car, buy it. Modernize your kitchen and put in some of those wonderful new labor-saving devices. Remodel your home, build that extra room, install that extra bathroom or modernize your present one. Paint and decorate your home; put on a new roof. Buy some new furnishings. Build a garage, plant a tree, install a fence. Buy some new clothes for every member of the family. Plan a "See America" vacation and spend your money at home.

If millions of people begin spending now — and stop talking gloom — we can lick the recession in no time and put the economy back in high gear.

Prefers Paying Income Tax to Being Listed as Unemployed

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Perhaps I misinterpret "Observers" objections to income taxes, but as the wife of a man who has been unemployed the past five months, I rather resent the inference that he is now worthless to the community.

My husband is an army veteran who has had the opportunity to observe the better living standards the average man in this country enjoys compared to many peoples. He is also a native of a southern state where most incomes aren't high enough to tax. In the seven years he was a "useful" citizen of Wisconsin, I never heard him complain of paying either local, state or federal taxes. Perhaps he, more than many of us, understands that while income taxes aren't the most pleasant or the fairest forms of taxation, they are an important source of revenue to provide the many things the average American citizen thinks are his due. Also they should be a sharp prod into informed citizenship. We have the right to vote and it's our money being spent, so speak up when you feel it is mis-used.

He Enjoys Comments in The Forum

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I enjoy reading the paper although I disagree sometimes with your editorials. I do enjoy your readers' comments more so than most everything else. Why not devote more space to these comments? I'm sure that you do not publish all the letters or comments — that's understandable, but those within reason should be published. I bet if you asked people on the street that most of them that read your newspaper read that part of the newspaper.

Now — I heard Frank Blair of N.B.C. news say this morning, that in the academy awards last evening, that in all the six awards handed out, that they were all, "on the seamy side." This makes my blood boil. What kind of slop is this?

I don't believe in censorship or dictatorial powers, but if this kind of movie entertainment continues we will need more than dictatorial powers to stop the morality problems of our youth. I have very good hopes about our youth, as I maintain that we hear all about the bad and not too much about the good. If only this could be reversed. But, if Hollywood sells filth — and they make it — somebody must see it — cause otherwise there would be less theaters than we have now. Maybe this is a fad and it will all pass away into wonderful clean entertainment again. As some have said — "we do not have to watch out from the outside — but rather watch out from deterioration from within". Marvin P. Kempen Khrushchev threatens us over Cuba. Khrush wants a deal. If we'll let Castro have Cuba, he'll let the Communists have Laos.

Democrats propose a Department of Urban Affairs. It's the new Democratic doctrine: Subsidize both city and farm — and send the bill to the suburbs.

The economy is improving. The commerce Department says personal income picked up in March — and is now only one lap behind outgo.

If the John Birch society keeps moving to the right, it may wind up back-to-back with the Communists.

Castro claims the new Cuban revolt is Hungary in reverse. In Budapest, the people wanted freedom. In Havana, Castro doesn't propose to let them have it.

Federal Trade Chairman Dixon opens a campaign against false advertising. If rigidly enforced, this could wreck the June marriage market.

Need Strong Convictions in Fight Against Communists

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Apparently writing too brief a letter (April 12 Forum) allows certain people to construe that I attack not only the British but other English speaking nationalities such as the Canadians and Australians. This I deny emphatically.

However, being a flag waver and being prejudiced to my American heritage, that I am. Certainly if we really want to survive the threat of Communism in the world today, we must have strong moral convictions in our way of life. Regardless of political party preference I think we agree that President

Kennedy's statement "if we fail, then freedom fails" is true of the present world situation.

We have seen the temporary failure of Cuban freedom fighters today. Since in this effort Castro used jet fighters and tanks, is it not reasonable to assume that the petroleum products shipped to Cuba by the British ships lent to the Castro war effort?

I doubt anyone can prove the British are a stronger ally than the West Germans. Germany is committed to the United States without reserve, while the British practice fence riding. Any Christian will acknowledge the

Menasha Good Templars Enlist

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for April 25, 1861.

At a meeting of Safety Lodge No. 77, International Order of Good Templars, at Menasha April 23, the following resolutions were passed with a request a copy be furnished, the Appleton Motor for publication.

Whereas, In response to the call of our Governor for volunteers to defend our common country and put down rebellion in disloyal states, so large a number of our brethren have promptly enrolled themselves in obedience to this call, therefore:

Resolved, 1st, That this act of patriotism on the part of our brethren deserves the thanks and praise of the members of this lodge.

Resolved, 2nd, That while we regret to part with our brethren for a time, yet we feel honored in view of the fact that we have such brave hearts among us, and trusting that they will prove faithful to their vows as temperance men as well as be faithful to the cause of human liberty, we bid them "God speed."

Resolved, 3rd, That they shall have our sympathies and prayers for Heaven's richest blessings to rest upon them during their absence, and that on their return we will greet them as heroes and patriots; and whatever their future lot may be, their memories shall be dearly cherished by us as the noble defenders of liberty.

We understand that some 15 for this lodge have already enlisted and others probably will. This speaks well for the material of which the lodge is composed.

Silas L. Spengler of Menasha was elected president of the Wisconsin Federation of Stamp Clubs. About 200 persons, representing 20 Wisconsin clubs and 1 from Michigan, attended the meeting.

Legislators Irked By Bureau Powers

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Close association with representative legislators brings an increasing awareness of their resentment of the prerequisites and powers of the administrative establishment.

Rightly or wrongly, the perceptive legislator, as distinguished from the easy-going political time-server, after a while suspects that the government, as a special interest, has an unfair advantage over himself and his unorganized constituent.

The routine legislative rule that requires a so-called "fiscal note" on all bills affecting state finance is currently an example, according to frequent complaints. The "fiscal note" rule was one of the contributions of former Assembly Speaker Mark Catlin of Appleton half a dozen years ago. It was intended as a reform, as a measure to enlighten the legislature and the public about the significance of measures that are tossed into the legislative machinery by the thousands. It was so accepted. But time has degenerated the operation of the rule. It was intended that the state budget director, then an independent officer, would write the paragraph explaining the fiscal significance of a bill.

Today the budget department merely relays the request to the department that is affected, and then transmits the reply to the legislature.

TIP SYSTEM

The system obviously is open to abuse. In the first place, it fact that the words of Christ have indisputable accuracy and He said "He that is not with Me is against Me". (Luke 11:23).

The above statements are facts, not so-called facts. I had not made statements which could be construed as godly perfection of Americans. Neither a statement denying any person freedom of speech, inferred or otherwise, only the right of reply to these charges.

The attitudes of a fair sized cross-section of people will influence others who would not ordinarily go it alone. So as soon as we Americans cease being unduly considerate and apologetic about our beliefs, we will have removed our greatest stumbling block. This is a serious game we play and defense is fine, but offense wins. We need to see our way of life in the minds of men, much rather than defend it. Is this being a radical?

Robert Alferi

1820 N. Charlotte St., Appleton

provides an advance tip, sometimes of several weeks, of the possibly critical or hostile intent of a legislator with respect to a particular department. The department is thus enabled to get out its propaganda and other political weapons at its leisure.

It also permits the department involved, if it chooses to do so, to serve its own interest by editorializing in the fiscal estimates. They can be made high or low, depending on the political situation. Finally, legislators complain that a department can hold up a measure for a couple of weeks, on the pretense that it is engaged in the fiscal calculations that it was asked to make. In legislative politics, delay is sometimes a decisive weapon.

But this is only a symptom of the practical political advantage of a state bureaucracy, as distinguished from a private citizen interest or an individual legislator, in the political management of legislation.

One of the more effective instruments in many cases is the manipulation of publicity. Virtually every sizeable department has its own press agent, sometimes several of them. The sophisticated among them have learned how to time their press releases for maximum effect. Recently the conservation department put out a press release the day before the hearing on a forest crop law amendment sponsored by northern counties that the department opposed.

PROPAGANDA

The merits are no doubt debatable. The point is that the legislature was holding a hearing for a fair exposition of the arguments, and the department attempted to subordinate it with its own publicity barrage. News service offices are not manned by philosophers. The Iron County board chairman looks a little undersized when he pits himself against the 1,200 man conservation establishment.

In physical resources, again, the bureaucracy has a long lead over the public or over the legislatures. The big departments have men in the galleries and on the sidelines every moment that the legislature is in session. They are not there as detached students of procedure. They are doing the political chores of their bosses, sometimes in direct competition with other interests that cannot afford the expenditures such constant attendance involves.

There is a law against legislative lobbying by state department employees and officers. The difficulty is in defining lobbying. By a reasonable definition, the law is violated every day.

In America You Can Still Boo Governor

From The Buffalo Evening News

A New York City judge has thrown out a disorderly conduct case against a fellow who booed Gov. Rockefeller during a political rally last October.

Good. If we ever reach the point where it isn't legal to boo a governor at a political rally, or an umpire at a ball game, it won't be the same America we grew up in.

How About That? Part Still Comes for Dime

From The Nashville Tennessean

The story is making the rounds that one of the country's recent and expensive failures with a missile resulted from a malfunction of a 10-cent part.

Considering the astronomical cost of most missiles, surprise is not in failure of a part, but in the fact space officials could buy any essential component for a dime.

KIMBERLY — Members of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters of Holy Name Church honored Mrs. B. J. Queltette at a dinner meeting.

Mrs. Queltette recently retired as chief ranger of the organization after serving in that capacity for 33 years. The guest of honor was presented a corsage and gift by the court and given a life membership certificate for outstanding service.

The Rev. Thomas Mortell, assistant pastor, spoke briefly. Other guests included the Rev. Gerald Bouressa, assistant pastor, and Mrs. Joseph Appleton, Forester field representative.

Families Evacuated From Area Where Gas Tank Cars Derailed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Five railroad tank cars loaded with highly explosive gas derailed here Sunday, causing evacuation of about 100 families.

Only one minor injury was reported—a Frisco Railroad crewman's toe was broken by a loose rail.

The tank cars containing 57,378 gallons of propane, and propane mixed with butane were in the center of a 95-car freight bound from Tulsa, Okla., to Frisco, Tenn. yards near Capleville.

Fire Chief Eddie Hamilton said it was "plain luck" that a broken rail had not ruptured one of the tank cars.

an hour and a half late on the air — dispelled rumors that he had somehow been put out of commission during the invasion.

He appeared to be in good health. His speech was accompanied by his customary gestures. Occasionally he waved his arms or thumped the table with a clenched fist.

He asserted that his regime had "won over a reactionary, aggressive, brutal enemy."

"The threat of Kennedy is much like that of Hitler," said Castro. "Hitler threatened small countries. Kennedy threatens small countries."

Should any new invasion attempt be launched, all Latin American would rise violently against the United States, Castro said, and he called for an end to the U.S. "empire."

"If they (the United States) invade Cuba, all Cubans and Latin American sympathizers of the revolution will take the battle there, to the heart of the empire," Castro said.

"These thugs, how are they with the military forces. It is going to frighten the Soviet Union if they can't frighten a little revolution like us?"

France Calls Reserves To Bolster Defenses

TV-Radio audience Sunday night that an attack from Algeria could come anytime. Rumors flew that 1,500 paratroopers in 30 planes had taken off from Algeria.

Civilians Resume Jobs

This morning the interior ministry announced that "fear of what could have happened during the night on the territory of metropolitan France did not mature."

As public fear of an invasion subsided somewhat, most civilians went to work as usual and a ban on commercial aviation was lifted for four airfields in the Paris region and one field in Alsace, near the Swiss border.

Airports at Marseille, Nice and Toulouse — those in southern France closest to Algeria — remained closed to traffic, with buses, tanks and trucks spotting their runways.

The situation in Algeria remained confused. The insurgent junta claimed the whole army in Algeria had rallied to it. The French government said Gen. De Gaulle, with headquarters at Tlemcen, west of Oran, and still loyal to De Gaulle, reported he was in contact with all army detachments in western Algeria with the exception of those in Oran itself.

Labor organizations, from right to left, scheduled a one-hour token strike at 5 p.m. to express their allegiance to De Gaulle.

Reports from throughout the country voiced a resounding chorus of support for the government.

Speaks Over TV

De Gaulle in a TV appearance Sunday announced he had assumed almost dictatorial powers to combat the military junta that took control of Algiers and Oran in a bloodless coup Saturday.

The president promised to use all means to end what he called the "odious and stupid adventure" led by retired Gens. Maurice Challe, Raoul Salan, Andre Zeller and Edmond Jouhaud. He warned French forces in Algeria to remain loyal to the government or face court-martial.

There was no indication what positive action De Gaulle would take to put down the mutiny. The alternatives appeared to be a blockade of Algeria or military action against the insurgents.

Results from a blockade would be slow to come, for the forces there are believed to have large supply stocks. Military action would mean a disastrous civil war, pitting Frenchman against Frenchman. Any planning for military action was hampered also by uncertainty as to how many of the 500,000 troops in Algeria had joined the mutiny and how many were still loyal to De Gaulle.

Navy Mostly Loyal

The French army has another 300,000 men, 50,000 of them in Germany and about 10,000 in the Paris region. The navy presumably was mostly still loyal to the government. There were several score coastal patrol vessels and an unknown number of submarines in Algerian waters.

Paris was rife with rumors but the city's famed night life was not dampened. The season's first tourists filled the nightclubs to drink champagne and ogle the stripteasers.

The insurgent-held Algiers radio poured forth an almost continuous stream of cryptic code messages, apparently aimed at their right-wing supporters in France.

Along with hourly claims of new support from wavering military commanders in Algeria.

These reports could not be verified. All unofficial communication with the territory was cut shortly after Foreign Legion paratroopers acting under orders from eliminate waste, duplication and unjustifiable expenditure."

The preliminary reappraisal has been completed and the results incorporated into the new budget proposals, McNamara said, adding:

"Our predecessors did a thorough job in preparing their program. As a result of the work we were able to do, however, we have reached different conclusions in a number of areas."

He then listed points already contained in the Kennedy defense budget, among them increases in the Polaris submarine force, Minuteman missile production and long range airlift for troops and cutbacks in other production items and base closings.

Hard Decisions

"Further temporizing on experimental nuclear aircraft will be brought to a halt... the development program for the B70 aircraft will be modified... it will be possible to cancel the last two squadrons in the Titan missile program..." McNamara said.

He itemized annual or over-all savings for various projects, then said:

"I cite these savings not because economy can be the primary objective of the department of defense. I do so rather to emphasize what can be accomplished."

The junta of retired generals took control of Algiers before dawn Saturday.

ed if hard choices are faced, if hard choices are made and if the pressures of special interest groups are resisted."

The Pentagon already is getting reaction to changes in its buying and operating program.

Congressional delegations protest and seek to prevent closing down of some of the military air bases, training camps and other installations.

Industries and labor unions are beginning to feel the impact of termination of defense production contracts which take work from one plant or locality and shift it to another.

The cabinet member's address today appeared to be a warning and challenge to those seeking to ease local impact of the administration's new policy.

Former Army Chief Of Staff Recalled To Aid Investigation

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is working with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor in an investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), the New York Times said today.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said President Kennedy asked his brother to help investigate the CIA's part in the Cuban crisis and in all other aspects of the secret defense activities of the United States.

Taylor, former Army chief of staff, was recalled from retirement Saturday to conduct a survey of the organization and capacity of the United States to deal with such things as subversion, counter espionage and guerrilla warfare.

The CIA, which operates under the President and the National Security Council, "helped organize, train, finance and arm the recent unsuccessful efforts of the Cuban refugees to overthrow the Castro government," the Times said.

commission to supervise a cease-fire in Laos and India agreed. India also accepted an invitation to attend a 14-nation conference on Laos to begin in Geneva May 12.

Hand Over 3 Documents

British High Commissioner Sir Paul Gore — Booth and Russian Ambassador I. A. Benediktov gave Indian Prime Minister Nehru three documents.

One, asked him to call the control commission, which also includes Canada and Poland and which was first established by the 1954 Indo-China armistice.

The second document invited India to Geneva. The third was an information copy of the British and Russian appeal for cease-fire in Laos.

Government troops bolted before the rebel attack and at least 18 were reported killed. It was uncertain how far south the royal Lao troops withdrew and whether they were beaten from Vang Vieng or simply abandoned the town.

Red Gain Ground

With a cease-fire due within two days, the leftist Pathet Lao forces now hold about one third of Laos and control its narrow waist. They dominate the north-south highway linking Vientiane with Luang Prabang.

Britain and the Soviet Union, after weeks of negotiations on the Laotian situation, are expected to issue a joint call for a cease-fire today or Tuesday, and quick endorsement is expected from Washington. The Soviets reportedly have agreed that the cease-fire will be policed by the International Truce Commission set up by the 1954 Indochina armistice and that a 14-nation conference then will be held to arrange a unified, neutral Laos.

As the military position of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels got better and better, Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist Laotian leader recognized by the Communists as the legal premier, said in Peiping that his people count on the Communist and neutral nations to help restore peace in Laos.

Crowds Fire on Army Patrol in Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Angry crowds fired on one army patrol, stoned three others, set minor buildings aflame and blocked a highway today in the Tamil speaking northern and eastern areas of Ceylon.

A communique said the army did not fire back. Kopyay M. Balasunderam and five other Tamil members of parliament were detained by government authorities, bringing to 15 the number of Tamil legislators ordered held.

The Tamils, Hindus who migrated to Buddhist Ceylon from India, have been staging a civil disobedience campaign in support of their demand that Tamil, as well as Sinhalese, be made an official language.

Two soldiers were injured in the shooting at Chavakachcheri.

Military Putsch Puts French Army on Spot

Choice Is Whether to Obey De Gaulle and Shoot Mutineers or Follow With Revolt

BY ANDREW BOROWIEC

PARIS (AP) — The right-wing military putsch in Algiers has put the French army in an agonizing dilemma.

The choice is whether to obey the President of the Republic and fire if necessary on the mutineers or to pick up the banner of revolt.

to "keep the army's oath and keep Algeria French."

The oath to maintain French rule over Algeria was solemnly proclaimed with rolling drums and blaring trumpets in the sunlit forum of Algiers after a similar coup in May 1958.

That coup brought President Charles de Gaulle to power.

Now the generals who helped De Gaulle three years ago accuse him of violating his pledge by his willingness to give Algeria independence if that is the choice of the Algerian people.

Staged by Elite
According to reports filtering from Algeria, the coup was staged by elite foreign legion paratroop regiments whose French officers bitterly oppose De Gaulle's Algerian policy.

Added to their dismay at the prospect of another French retreat was fear that Algeria's independence would end the Legion's existence. According to the laws of France, Foreign Legion units can only be stationed in overseas possessions. Loss of Algeria will leave France only a scattering of small islands overseas.

Apparently, shortly after the coup, other units of the French army were joining the revolt.

Death Blow
A great number of army career officers bitterly resent De Gaulle's self-determination plan and his willingness to negotiate with the Moslem rebels. They feel that French withdrawal from Algeria will be a death blow to the army's pride.

Draftees serving in Algeria did not oppose the 1958 coup, and there is little chance they will oppose their officers on a large scale. Thus the fate of the army is in the hands of its officers.

Some 500,000 French soldiers, sailors and airmen serve in Algeria. There are about 250,000 in metropolitan France, mainly in training centers, administrative units and several skeleton divisions. Some 50,000 are in Germany.

At this stage it is impossible to trace the dividing line cutting through the army. One thing is certain—most French career officers now stationed in France and Germany have served in Algeria and have been at one time or other involved in an effort to keep it French.

Since the January referendum approved De Gaulle's Algerian policy, most officers have been conscious that the overwhelming mass of Frenchmen would oppose any military coup.

Foreign legion elements are led by French officers and are considered, along with metropolitan paratroopers, the pride of the French army. Few officers consider them as foreigners.

French air force and navy units in Europe appear to have remained loyal to the government. There is no definite word on the navy's and air force's attitude in Algeria. Some 20,000 French airmen serve in Algeria, manning 800 or so planes. Naval units number about 20,000 men, including a crack half brigade of marines.

Less Involved
In the past, however, French navy and air force units have been less involved in political agitation than their colleagues from the ground forces.

Foreign legionnaires number some 25,000 men, spread out in 13 regiments throughout French combat divisions in Algeria.

There are two paratroop divisions in Algeria, the 10th and 25th, each counting roughly 10,000 men. Both divisions have always been at the head of any movement to keep Algeria French.

Some 5,000 paratroopers are in the training center in Pau, in southern France. In 1958, when the army planned to seize power in metropolitan France, the Pau paratroopers had been scheduled to march on Paris with the aid of two regiments transported by planes.

Appleton Man Heads Children's Dentists' Society

MILWAUKEE — Dr. Earl Felting, Appleton, was elected president of the state Children's Dentists' Society Sunday at a meeting in conjunction with the annual convention of Wisconsin State Dental Society.

Dr. Robert A. Mason, Milwaukee, was elected president of the Wisconsin Dental Association Foundation.

Dr. Quinton E. Williams, dentistry professor at the University of Texas, told a pre-convention meeting that research has come up with a new method for getting youngsters interested in good dental habits.

He said a harmless dye turns red where any teeth-destroying bacteria cling to enamel surfaces. Dr. Williams said the youngster just keeps brushing until the red stains disappear.

Rattlesnake Hunters Rouse Sleepy Crawlers

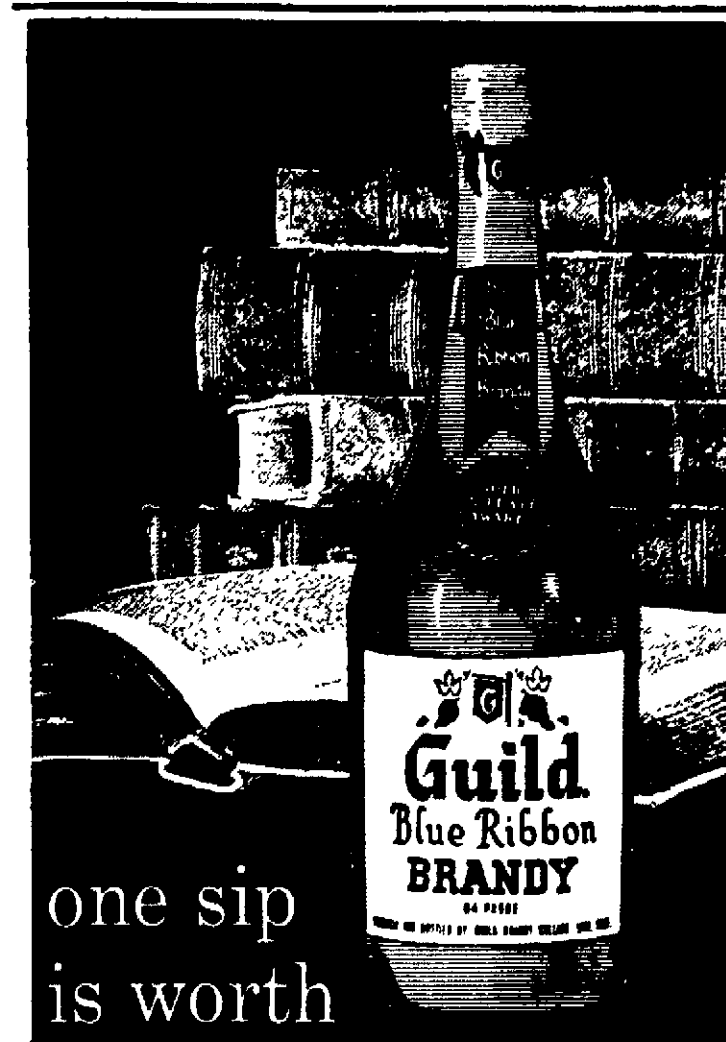

OKENE, Okla. (AP) — The snakes—still a little sleepy after a long, long winter—had lots of company in the gypsum hills Sunday.

An actual 1,132 registered snake hunters and an estimated 18,500 spectators crowded the area for the annual Okene rattlesnake roundup.

Joe Durham, a snake-catching veteran, said the late spring caused the reptiles to hibernate longer than usual this year.

But by the end of the weekend 2,263 rattlers had been snared. Hunters get $2.50 a pound for dressed rattlesnake meat.

Snake hunter Gary Hornish, 23, Altus, Okla., got a poisonous nip on a thumb. He was reported in good condition.

Entire Van Deraa Family Gets Into Act At Sister Joyce's Wedding Saturday

What's it like when every member of the family, in the Arnold Van Deraa family it's 10, starts dressing and preparing for the trip to the church to participate in their sister and daughter's wedding.

Saturday morning just such a scene took place at Van Deraas, 1007 Depot St. in Little Chute. Joyce was getting married to Wayne Luis Lennert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lennert, 1413 Kenneth Ave., Kaukauna. The Lennert name is not new to the Van Deraas — another Van Deraa is Mrs. Glen Lennert who is living in South Milwaukee.

St. John Catholic Church was the setting for the 9 a. m. ceremony performed by the Rev. Martin Vosbeek.

In the wedding party were six sisters: Mrs. Glen Lennert, Peggy and Jeanne Van Deraa, Mrs. Tony Van Boxtel, Mrs. Ervin Vandenberg and Mrs. Roy Schaumann. The bridegroom's sisters, Sharon and Lynn, also were bridesmaids. Thomas Van Deraa, young brother of the bride, was groomsman.

The couple left for Illinois after a reception at Little Chute Village Hall. They will reside in Chicago where Mr. Lennert is employed by Northern Electric Co.

Three Sisters, Mrs. Ervin Vandenberg, West Allis, Peggy Van Deraa, Little Chute, and Mrs. Roy Schaumann, Menasha, stand ready and waiting for their ride to St. John Catholic Church.

Mrs. Glen Lennert, South Milwaukee, and Mrs. Tony Van Boxtel, Little Chute, primp before the mirror in the Arnold Van Deraa residence before leaving for the church for their sister's wedding.

Thomas Van Deraa shines his shoes in preparation for his role of groomsman in his sister's wedding Saturday. St. John Catholic Church in Little Chute was the setting for the morning nuptial.

Birds No Longer Rule the Roost

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Building owners, having tried about everything else, have turned legislative guns against the starlings and pigeons that infest downtown buildings.

A bill introduced in the Board of Aldermen would provide for humane dispositions of the birds under rules to be set up by the health department. At present objectionable birds have to be caught and turned over to the Humane Society, or left alone.

Alderman Joseph B. McDonald, who introduced the measure, said "things have reached a point where these birds should not be coddled any further — they are desecrating our public buildings."

AAUW director and political scientist and historian specializing in Russian and Asian studies, "AAUW in a Decade of Crisis."

Workshop sessions and conferences will also be held during the convention. Foreign students studying in Wisconsin on Association Fellowship will be introduced to the group. New officers will be installed Saturday after the noon luncheon.

Lazy Speech Habits Can be Cured With Attention, Effort

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have received many letters from girls who can't say no. My problem deals with a girl who can't say yes.

The young lady is attractive, well educated and works in our office. We all like her a great deal and we know she reads your column every day. Please print this letter for her benefit as well as for those who must listen to her.

A phone conversation which I heard five minutes ago sounded like this: "Yup. Ya. Yeah? Unhuh. Yah. Yehetchah. O. K."

Is there any hope? Pipeline Gang.

Dear Gang: Yup — there's hope. The girl has fallen into a lazy speech habit, but with effort she can correct it.

The first step is calling it to her attention, which you did. I hope she appreciates your interest, and learns to say yes—at the proper time, that is.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our Appleton Vacuum Cleaner Company Filter Queen Dist. Repairs — All Makes, Models, Bags, Belts, Hoses, Brushes, Cords. 106 E. Fremont RE 4-7585

10-year-old son is having trouble in school because he's smarter than his teacher. She's a neurotic spinster who should not be teaching school. She takes out her personal frustrations on the children.

We had our son's I.Q. tested and he should be in a higher grade but the teacher refuses to promote him because she claims he doesn't do the required work in the class he's in. Of course he doesn't. He's bored.

Yesterday when my son told me the teacher hawled him out in front of the class because he disagreed with her I got so mad I went to the principal's home after dinner. He stuck up for the teacher and said my son is undisciplined and a trouble-maker. Was Ed-ison disciplined? Was Albert Schweitzer disciplined? I doubt it. What can a mother do in a situation like this?—Brick Wall

Dear Brick: Your son's I.Q. may be terrific, but what good is it if he is unmotivated, undisciplined, uncooperative and has a mother who runs interference for him constantly?

No teacher should have to take sass from a smart-alecky kid no matter how bright he is. You've already damaged him pretty well. Mom, so now you'd better get him to a professional who can help him channel his super-brightness productively. Give him a chance to live in the world with other people. The doctor will probably suggest home projects to challenge his intellect. Meantime, I suggest you keep your ear out of Sonny's water.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Six months ago my brother married a beautiful girl who is young and fresh and too darned interested in my husband. At first I thought my imagination was working overtime but now I'm sure I'm right. She calls him "Big Daddy" and always manages to squeeze next to him in the car or wherever there's room enough for only one person to sit.

My husband has never given me anything to worry about but it must be flattering to a fellow 40 to be selected as a target by a gorgeous 22-year-old.

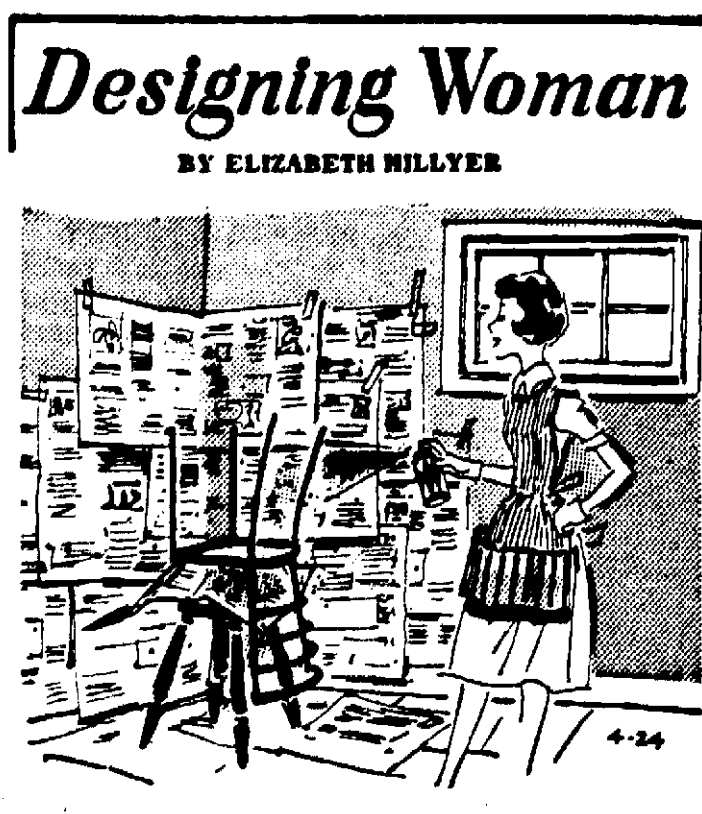

This kind of trouble I don't need. How does a smart wife handle the problem? Insecure

Dear Insecure: You're in a position to give "Big Daddy" a lot more affection than she is. Show him that you love him and that you trust him. Too many women shove their husband's right into alien arms by running scared—and showing it.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

To Renew Black Wrought Iron Furniture

A critical look at black wrought iron furniture in spring's strong sunlight may suggest refinishing. There may be worn spots where the black isn't as intensely black as it was. Can the finish be restored to the smart sooty blackness it has when it was new? Or is the only practical paint to use too shiny to look like a professional finish?

The answer is easy, especially easy because flat black paint for use on wrought iron furniture comes in spray cans. After the furniture has been cleaned thoroughly, push-button paint does the refinishing in the least possible time. Color stylist Margaret Hutchison suggests a corner as the best spot to set up a simple spray booth, with old newspapers on the walls and floor, and an old piano stool to use as a turntable so handling can be kept to a minimum. Chairs handle most conveniently from an upside down start.

Mrs. V. L. "What shall I use to balance a cord organ, 43 inches wide and 33 inches tall, which is centered on a 94-foot wall in our living room? Chairs on both sides of the 34-inch wall space would block an archway on one side, and an opening which leads to the kitchen on the other. We keep a lamp on the top of the organ, centered between a sterling candelabrum and a small photograph, and we have a painting hung over it which we may replace with a mirror."

The organ needn't be centered on the wall. A comfortable chair beside it would be convenient and companionable, and there's room for a lounge type if the organ were moved. It would also be a good idea to place a standing lamp with a swinging arm between the organ and the chair, where it would improve lighting of the organ music and could also be used for the chair. The lamp on the organ top, which may be too large or inadequate for the purpose, could then be replaced.

Mrs. M. L. "In a 9' x 12' bedroom with gray furniture and, aqua walls, how can I introduce lilac, purple and pink? I feel that a chenille spread is best, and

Giant Ice Pick Made for Army

CHICAGO (AP)— A Chicago engineering firm has designed and built the world's largest ice pick to probe the mysteries of polar glaciers.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers received delivery of a 23-foot-long thermal drill that melts its way into a solid glacier and brings up 10-foot ice cores for study.

It can probe 12,000 feet down, deeper than man has ever penetrated ice before.

The drill is now being used in Greenland to obtain facts that will be useful for the construction of military outposts in polar regions.

Keep Quiet Basic Rule In Bridge

The two basic rules of communication are: Speak up loud and clear, and then sit down and keep quiet. Don't forget that second rule when you're signalling at bridge.

There was no sensible reason for West's opening lead. A player who has nothing of his own to establish should try to strike his partner's suit. In this case West might have followed the old no trump maxim: When in doubt, lead spades.

The pointless opening lead gave South a reprieve, but not a full release. He could take four clubs and three diamonds, but he had to go after hearts to try for nine tricks. As soon as South led a heart West would be able to put up the ace of hearts and shift to a spade.

South was in no hurry to lead hearts. He knew that the opponents were fussing with each other and judged that a few rounds of clubs would give them a further chance to show their annoyance.

Chance To Speak

When South led a second round of clubs, East had his chance to speak, and he did so by slapping the queen of spades down on hearts and diamonds. If he did the table. This was mildly im-

North Shore Golf Club was the setting Saturday afternoon for a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Andrew Vaccaro. ed to make each play with the same lack of emphasis.

Worse was to come. When declarer took his third club trick, East reinforced his first message by discarding the deuce of spades. In his eagerness to complete a "high-low" signal, East had discarded the setting trick.

After taking the four clubs declarer led hearts, but the defenders could take only one heart and three spades. Any experienced player can imagine what they had to say to each other.

There was no need for East to throw any spades at all. He could have conveyed the same message by discarding the deuces of spades, that was enough. He had spoken, and the time had come to sit down and keep quiet.

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention. This asks partner to show a major suit if he can. You intend to raise either major to game. If partner bids two diamonds, showing no major suit, you can safely bid two spades.

Marines Lose Good Recruit

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Sgt. Charles Blasi, Marine recruiter, almost had decided the recruiting business was getting pretty easy.

An 18-year-old lad walked into the Marine recruiting station, adjacent to the selective service office, and announced:

"I want to sign up."

"Don't you want me to explain anything about the Marines to you first," Blasi inquired.

"No, I just want to sign up," the youth said.

Blasi told the youngster he would have to take a test. The youth looked a bit skeptical, then sat down and took the examination. He passed it.

Milwaukee Sculptor To Speak at Xavier

Sister M. Thomasita, O.S.F., a well-known midwestern artist, will speak at Xavier Catholic High School at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Her visit is sponsored by Xavier Parents Club.

Sister Thomasita teaches at Cardinal Stritch College in Milwaukee. She received her master of fine arts degree from Chicago Art Institute in 1947. In addition to her regular college classes, she conducts special courses for housewives. She has executed hundreds of commissions as a sculptor and has given numerous lectures each year.

Sister Thomasita is the granddaughter of a Milwaukee architect, Erhard Brielmair, and related to members of a prominent architectural firm in Milwaukee. St. Josephs Basilica in Milwaukee is one of the many designed by her grandfather.

She is the only woman ever elected to an honorary membership in Wisconsin Chapter of American Institute of Architects.

She has had one-woman exhibits in New York, Chicago, Dayton and Seattle.

"The Philosophy of a Good Art Program" will be her topic Wednesday. The public has been invited.

The Ailing House Bleach Whitens Wall Tile

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Three years ago we remodeled our bathroom, using plastic wall tile; now the white grouting is turning yellow, especially around the tub area. How can this be whitened up?

A: Scrub the grouting with a small stiff brush (old tooth brush) and a household bleach solution or a household, general purpose, liquid detergent; allow to remain four to five minutes before rinsing off with plenty of clear water.

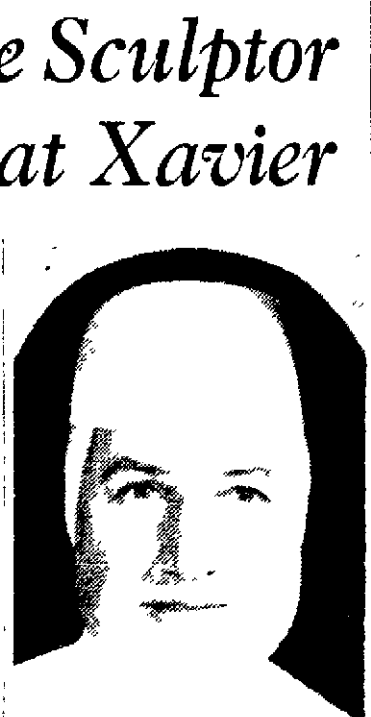

SQUEAKING SPRINGS

One of our readers has written in about an easy way he tried for curing squeaking bed springs: Many years ago he sprayed the springs with a liquid wax, using a vacuum cleaner's spray gun.

VARNISH OVER PAINT?

Q: The home we just bought has white woodwork throughout. We want a varnish finish. Can we apply this over the paint, or must we take the paint off first?

A: If you want the effect of a natural wood, the present paint must be removed first. Varnish can be applied over the present paint, if it is adhering smoothly and tightly all over. However, any gloss must first be dulled and the surface must be thoroughly cleaned and any trace of wax, grease, grime, etc., removed before applying the varnish coat. But remember, putting varnish over the paint will only result in a glossy coat that's apt to make the paint look yellower.

STORAGE DRAWERS PATTERN

Q: Where can I get a pattern to make storage drawers underneath a crib?

A: Write to Easi-Bild Patterns, Pleasantville, N. Y., or Home Craftsman, Rock Island, Ill., or Popular Mechanics Press, 200 East Ontario St., Chicago 11, Ill. Many building supplies or lumber dealers may have this type of instruction sheet available; many shelter magazines have articles on this type of project.

CREOSOTE STAIN

Q: Last summer, workmen staining the roof shingles accidentally spilled a gallon of stain that had been mixed with creosote all over a cement patio. Is there any way we can remove this stain to improve the appearance of the cement?

To use, make a thick paste of the cement?

A: Creosote is practically impossible to remove when it penetrates cement.

The Portland Cement Assn. suggests trying the following strong bleach on the stain (being careful to keep the mixture away from any metal surface or colored fabric):

Dissolve 2 pounds of trisodium phosphate in 1 gallon hot water. Mix 12 ounces of chlorinated lime to a paste in a shallow enameled pan, by adding water slowly and mashing the lumps. Pour this and the trisodium phosphate solution into a 2 gallon stoneware jar and add water until full. Stir well, cover the jar, and allow the lime to settle.

To use, make a thick paste of powdered talc and some of the liquid, and apply with a trowel to the stain, about 1/4-inch thick. When dry, scrape off with wooden paddle or trowel.

If bleaching doesn't remove stain completely, only other suggestion is to stain or paint entire surface of patio. Instruction sheet for removing stains from concrete is available on request from the Portland Cement Assn., 33 W. Grand Ave., Chicago 10, Ill.

MAGNESIUM ROD

Q: I am interested in installing a magnesium rod as a rust inhibitor for well water. Where can it be purchased?

A: Magnesium rods can be purchased from plumbing contractors or supply houses.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

GRADUATION ANNOUNCEMENTS

I am a senior in high school and have planned for some time to send commencement announcements to relatives and close friends. However I am unsure of the etiquette about this, especially concerning favorite teachers and parents of classmates. Could you please give me the rules? I am sure it will be of value to many others if you put it in your column.

Louise Davis Answers:

The answer to your question can't be given as a hard and fast rule. It is a clear case of common sense with each person sending their own announcements. I see no special reason for sending any to favorite teachers for they all know that you are graduating. But naturally it wouldn't be considered wrong if you do suggest that you use discretion in sending an-

Our Children

Those Who Buy Child's Affection are Deceptive

BY ANGELO PATRI

Needless to say, everybody it a blind eye to misdemeanors or likes to be liked. Children of all more material gifts.
Unfortunately, there are some people who are so anxious to be loved that they will buy a child's affection by bribing him with unearned praise, gifts or whatever the child thinks he wants. That sort of adult deceives himself and injures the child. He is not getting the affection of the child nor is the child getting anything worth having. The child fares the worse of the two because he is getting a false idea of people and life in general.

Harms Child

When mother sets a standard for the child but father or a grandparent disregards it, winks at his misbehavior, argues with the mother, that person is not the loving friend he wishes to be, but a upholding the standard of right.

APRON FOR HOSTESS

Is it correct for a hostess to receive her dinner guests wearing an apron?
Louise Davis Answers: Many hostesses do. It is a matter of using good judgment, depending on the hostess, the style and condition of the apron and the anticipated reaction of the guests. There are attractive and dressy aprons that wrong if you do suggest that you use discretion in sending an-

Ideal Dieter's Fare

Salads are an ideal luncheon for dieters during warm weather. Low-calorie salads with low-calorie dressings, that is!

Such fare, served as the main dish at noontime, caters to a reducer's special needs. In generous measure, it supplies the bulk required to satisfy the appetite, the roughage to keep the digestive system in order, and the vitamins to protect health and skin.

Another plus for salads is their variety. They need never be dull, as these "international" recipes prove:

Italian Cabbage Salad: Mix 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 diced sweet red pepper, 1 diced green pepper, 1 tsp. celery seed, and 2 tbsps. low-calorie Italian-style dressing. Chill for 1 hour. Fork onto bed of lettuce and garnish with water-thin tomato wedges (half tomato). Serves 2, at 54 calories per serving.

Bermuda Salad: Place skinned section of 1 large orange on lettuce leaves. Garnish with thin self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write me in care of your newspaper, enclosing 20 cents in red. Place whole on cucumber coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Gourmet Cold Salmon: Chill 1 salmon steak, fresh-cooked or canned, on watercress, newspaper, enclosing 20 cents in red. Place whole on cucumber coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Travel Folder For Free Ride

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP)—The railway station agent here got a call from someone who wanted to know when the next southbound train would leave town. The agent told him.

Next question from the caller: "Will it have some empty box-cars?"
"Yes," the agent replied.
"Thanks for the information," said the caller. "Several of us are heading home on vacation and we've made it okay this far."

blundering individual who is actually harming the child. Teachers want to be popular. Who doesn't? But the time comes when a teacher must make a decision that displeases a child, and that sometimes displeases the child's parents. A boy on the team knew he must keep his marks up to a given standard. He was an important member of the team and a highly popular boy for that reason. He grew careless and neglected his work and failed to reach the required rating for the month. There was consternation on all sides. The mathematics teacher stood firmly on the record. "Here it is. A note of warning; a second note of warning; 50 per cent in algebra. Ten examples and five correct; the same level of achievement for four weeks in succession. I cannot and will not change that record. He made it and he must abide by it."

Pressure Brought
Pressure from many sides was brought to bear upon the teacher. The coach, the members of the team, even parents pleaded with the teacher to alter that record but he refused. He was just an "Old Meanie."

If it were not for the "Old Meanies," I wonder what would happen in homes and schools, in the child but father or a grandparent disregards it, winks at his misbehavior, argues with the mother, that person is not the loving friend he wishes to be, but a upholding the standard of right.

First Heavily Lobbied Issue Hits Legislature: Trading Stamps Fight

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The first of the heavily lobbied issues of the legislative session is being fought out now as merchandising interests clash on the issue of legalizing the redemption of trading stamps in merchandise premiums.

For about 40 years Wisconsin has rigorously regulated trading stamps, and now permits only cash redemption. Other states have less restrictive laws, and the stamp interests have resolved to make a decisive fight on the question here this year.

Informed guesses now have it that the drive will be successful, although the battle won't be an easy one. One of the contributing factors to the favorable outlook for the stamp bill is the backing of some principal Wisconsin manufacturers who are interested in expanding premium markets for their products.

If the state department of taxation could deposit promptly all of the income tax payment checks received in mountainous piles last week, the state treasury could gain at least $60,000 a year in interest earnings on its reserves. The matter of punctual bank deposits was one of the items stressed by a committee of private business specialists that examined state business practices last year. Officials are working on methods to speed up the opening of the envelopes to pluck out the payments — with examination of the returns at leisure.

One of the constant sources of astonishment to new legislators is the size of the staffs of some of the state institutions. The other day there were gasps around the legislative finance committee table when welfare officials proposed a staff of 69 persons for a new, small, demonstration hospital that will accommodate a maximum of 30 emotionally disturbed child patients.

Aside from the generous conceptions of staff requirements that characterize governmental managers, another explanation lies in the fact that it requires the equivalent of 4½ persons to man one station in an institution that operates night and day, every day of the year, counting vacations, sick leave and the relatively short 38½-hour work week of the state civil service.

The chiropractic lobby is again locked in ardent and perennial struggle with the physicians' lobby about the former's insistent demand that chiropractors be allowed to treat patients for workmen's compensation benefits.

The measure has been knocked down repeatedly in the past and doubtless will be defeated again. Some knowledgeable Capitol hands are wondering why the chiropractors don't try their position before the workmen's compensation advisory committee, which is strongly influenced by organized labor, and which usually gets its recommendations through the legislature without a quibble.

Some politicians are annoying press representatives by their habit of sending out advance speech manuscripts about public addresses that actually are not delivered. It is a practice that borders on the dishonest, and sometimes appears to be making tools out of clubs and organizations that invite speakers, then read about speeches made to them that they didn't hear.

Paul Corbin, a professional politician who rose to prominent place in Wisconsin Democratic politics during the last two years, is represented by Capitol friends as having established himself securely in Washington under the Kennedy administration.

He is now a member of the staff of the Democratic national committee, functioning as the personal representative of Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

The Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association is grumbling about the public service commission's order extending the weekend embargo upon commercial truck use of main-travelled state highways during the tourist season starting Memorial Day. But it appears doubtful that the truckers will actually appeal the order to the courts, as the association hinted that it is considering in the current issue of its house organ.

If the views of representative Republicans calling at the Capitol this spring are reliable at this early date, Wisconsin party sentiment about the 1964 presidential nomination is not even close to jelling.

A good guess is that a poll of probable delegates from Wisconsin to a nominating convention today would show an inconclusive division of support for Nixon, Rockefeller and Goldwater, not necessarily in that order.

Philleo Nash, the former Wisconsin lieutenant governor who now has a tenuous place in the Kennedy administration in Washington as a consultant for the U.S. department of interior, is hoping to hang on long enough to become commissioner of the bureau of Indian affairs.

For the first time since the creation of the integrated or compulsory membership State Bar of Wisconsin, an "independent" candidate is running for the presidency of the organization.

He is Jack McManus, a young Madison attorney, who got on the ballot by submitting 50 signatures on a petition of his own circulation. The regularly nominated candidates for the leadership of the professional society are Arthur Wickham and John A. Klumwin, members of leading Milwaukee firms.

The annual financial statement of the State Bar of Wisconsin just published discloses that it has operating revenues of about $100,000 a year, including about $82,000 in yearly dues income. The salary budget of the organization amounts to about $41,000 a year.

After prolonged conferences among state Capitol officials, the state government has produced a new and simple brochure that is being distributed to schoolchildren, tourists and the many other sightseers who call at the statehouse and typically ask for a souvenir. It attempts to answer most of the questions asked by such visitors.

Gov. Nelson is getting friendly advice to cut down his speech schedule during this season to permit more time for legislative affairs, including personal contacts with legislators. The demand for public appearances constitutes one of the principal burdens of the governorship, and few governors have been able to manage the problem. Only when a governor is preparing to retire from politics does he dare to deny any substantial number of the calls for his presence at dinners, conventions, and conferences of groups that run the gamut of human organization.

The non-resident politicians who attend the congressional district caucuses of the Republican organization that will start soon will provide early clues to the candidate list of the party next year.

Prospective aspirants for state office endorsements traditionally travel the caucus circuit, to get early commitments from the local party leaders who will head county and district delegations to the election year endorsement convention.

The list of registered lobbyists for the 1961 legislative session will apparently reach about 300. The number will be slightly larger than the 1959 session. Each year brings a slight boost in the number of professional advocates in legislative halls.

Suggest Need for Extending Current School Schedules

Offered as Possible Solution to Problem of Inservice Education

OSHKOSH — Longer school years for teachers and cooperative hiring of educational consultants by small school systems were two suggestions made here over the weekend for handling the problem of inservice education.

More than 125 school administrators and principals from 13 northeastern counties met in a full-day session at Oshkosh State College's Reeve Memorial Union Saturday in a pilot conference called by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The state requires inservice education by school systems as a means of upgrading the school program, bettering curriculum offerings and improving teaching methods. Saturday's conference, the first held in the state, was to sound out reactions in the field.

How can a small school system where the supervising principal is kept busy with administrative details find time to develop an inservice education program among his teachers? This was the topic of Prin. Clarence Wessalon, Athens.

In several cases, schools have banded together to jointly hire an educational consultant to study their curriculum and conduct the inservice conferences, several administrators replied.

Stresses More Time

Robert Fowler, Spring Road School principal in the Town of Menasha, said more time for planning is vital to improve his teaching standards and he hoped thought colleges should provide resource people for the inservice education programs.

Sheboygan Supt. Leslie Johnson contended teachers should be re-trained every 10 years to keep up with changes in education. By 1972 the North Central Association may require faculties to have a master's degree in their particular field, he said.

Dr. Donald Scott, Neenah superintendent of schools, in a panel which touched upon research in education, listed various research projects including offering language at the elementary school level, team teaching and pointed out Neenah has a lay committee to study building needs.

Cadet Teachers

Eugene Balts, Oshkosh public school curriculum coordinator, did not think pre-service and inservice education could be separated and he said the cadet teaching program whereby Oshkosh used about 100 of the Oshkosh State College education majors has benefited the regular teachers as well as the cadet teachers.

Rule Shooting Death Result Of Accident

Daniel Fulcer, 27, Fatally Wounded In Town Tavern

OSHKOSH — The death April 16 of Daniel E. Fulcer, 27, 1032½ W. Wisconsin Ave., Appleton, has been ruled accidental, Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner, said today.

Fulcer died about 7 a.m. April 16 from a self-inflicted head wound. Lt. Richard Guenther, of the sheriff's department, said testimony from witnesses indicated Fulcer had taken a pistol from a kitchen drawer and placed it to his head, apparently not knowing it was loaded. He had pulled the trigger at least once before the gun discharged. There was only one shell in the gun chamber, according to Edward Derks, route 2, Menasha, owner of the Midway Bar, where the incident took place.

Fulcer's wife, Marlene, 21, when she noticed him place the gun to his head, warned him it might be loaded and he pulled the trigger. Nothing happened, police said. Derks came into the tavern kitchen where the Fulcers were and, seeing Fulcer with a gun to his head, also tried to stop him and warned that the gun could be loaded. Fulcer pulled the trigger again and the gun discharged.

The shooting took place shortly after 1 a.m. while Derks was closing the tavern. Both Derks and Mrs. Fulcer said they doubted that Fulcer knew there was a shell in the gun and they discounted that he may have been playing Russian roulette, according to Lt. Guenther.

Dean W. Geer, 68, of Oshkosh, vice president and a director of Ripon Foods Inc., and formerly of Geer, Murray, Inc., advertising agency died Sunday.

Geer, who was prominent in Oshkosh civic affairs, helped found the food firm in 1930. He was a director of the First National Bank in Oshkosh.

He leaves his widow and a daughter, Mrs. John Kaspar of McFarland.

Leaves Neenah Post After Decade on Job; Praises Organization

BY MARION DREW Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — "My work has prepared me for retirement," Grace McLay, executive director of the YWCA remarked. "I have developed many stimulating new interests and, although I am retiring, it will be to only a degree of leisure. I hope to have a few language classes in Janesville and, possibly, continue doing a little work with YWCAs on a consultant or fill in, basis."

Miss McLay has been director of the YWCA in Neenah for the past ten years. A native of Janesville, she attended Whitewater State Teachers College and taught fifth grade for two years. She went to the University of Wisconsin where she received a bachelor of philosophy degree.

She became interested in YWCA work while she was a student at Whitewater, working with the student association there. She decided to specialize in that field and from the University of Wisconsin went to the YWCA at Waukesha for three years.

With each year of association in Y work she became more interested and went to New York for a course of training for YWCA secretaries.

Open House Planned Tuesday to Observe National Y Week

NEENAH — An open house for civic leaders, church personnel and friends will be held at YWCA from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Tuesday in observance of YWCA week.

Coffee hours will be held four mornings this week so mothers of children in the nursery can see the facilities. The annual Pan American Day Observance will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Beyond the local activities, the YWCA begins its 106th year of service in the world community and its emphasis continues to be on helping women develop their fullest potential so that they can function effectively as individuals.

The Purpose

Posters telling the purposes of the YWCA and giving information on local activities during Y week have been placed throughout the Twin Cities by members of Y-Teens. The work of the local organization with teen-agers is one of the most important phases of the Y program. A new Youth Center, located at 118 W. North Water St., directly behind the YWCA home, houses the activities of the Y-Teens. A baby-sitting course designed as a preparation for the teen-agers and a service to the community is one of the current activities at the Y, and hundreds of girls interested in bridge, tennis, gardening, crafts or cultural and information programs have found outlets at the YWCA.

The administration of Neenah-Menasha YWCA is currently headed by Miss Grace McLay, executive director, and Mrs. Helen Braun, administrative assistant. This summer, following the retirement of Miss McLay, Mrs. Braun will become acting executive director. Mrs. Marilyn Falk will continue as Y-Teen director, and Mrs. Janet Yakes will be program director.

Boating Club To Answer County Board

Special Meeting Called to Refute Recklessness Charges

NEW LONDON — Al Schafer, commodore of New London Boat Club has called a special meeting for 8 p.m. Tuesday to discuss statements made against boaters by members of the Waupaca County Board.

At a Waupaca County Board meeting supervisors suggested fishermen carry empty beer bottles in their boats to throw at boaters they think are going too fast.

One county board member suggested fishermen carry guns for protection against boaters with large boats and motors.

Unjust Criticism

Schafer said the members of the boat club and other boaters are being unjustly criticized in these statements. Leonard Rolf, a member of the club, said safety is one of the points that is stressed very strongly by the boat club. Rolf also said all boaters should not be condemned for a few reckless boat operator's tactics and he declared some of these reckless boat operators classify themselves as fishermen.

Shelve Idea of Prisoners at Camp Williams

State Doesn't Want Responsibility for Closing Facility

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The idea of converting an unused military barracks at Camp Williams in Juneau County to accommodate an overflow of prisoners now held at the state reformatory near Green Bay has been shelved temporarily.

State officials want direct assurances from the U. S. Air Forces that national military leaders do not object to the plan to use part of the state's air national guard training base as a dormitory and detention camp for civilian prisoners.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson has sent a direct inquiry to the Pentagon, and has not received a reply, according to word here yesterday.

State welfare department officials are understood to be concerned that they might be blamed for the event, if the air force decides to abandon Camp Williams as a training flight center.

Whose Responsibility?
The Pentagon has said that it is preparing for some reduction of the number of flight training facilities around the country.

It is feared that if an order to close down Camp Williams is in process, the neighboring community might pin the responsibility on the welfare department and its reformatory branch proposal. The civilian community regards the camp as an economic asset.

Meanwhile welfare department officials have made representations about the urgency of the crowding problem at Green Bay, and are considering alternative locations for an emergency housing location in the event the Camp Williams plan is finally abandoned. A decision is likely during the next couple of weeks, it is authoritatively reported.

Educators Form Research Group

OSHKOSH — Thirty-five state educators met at Oshkosh State College Friday afternoon to take steps in forming the Wisconsin Education Research Association which will have its first formal meeting in the fall.

The group authorized Dr. Roger E. Guiles, Oshkosh State College president, to appoint a nominating committee and a program committee in his role as acting chairman.

State Issues Report

Huge Growth Occurs in Pupil Transportation

MADISON — What the state-average costs in spite of price inflation, it was said. The average cost is about $62 per year per pupil.

Sorenson said proof of the public support for the idea of school transportation is that 20 per cent of the pupils being carried to their classes live less than two miles from school. Such transportation is optional on the part of the parent. It is compulsory for distances of more than two miles. Nearly 38 per cent of pupils being carried are being hauled more than five miles, according to the state report.

The school transportation business will continue to grow with the movement for further school consolidation and integration. The statistics involve only public schools. Transportation at public expense of private or parochial school pupils has not been provided. A bill that would legalize such service is now before the legislature and would probably add $2,000 to the daily total of 227,000 pupils transported.

The average cost of such transportation is about 35 cents a day per child, of which the state pays more than half. The steady increase in the number of persons carried has permitted reduction in

Grace McLay to Leave YWCA After 10 Years

Y and the non-sectarian, religious atmosphere, as well as the opportunity to meet people from every walk of life.

"The YWCA was founded in 1886 with women's prayer circles," Miss McLay said. "Originally, you know, it was Florence Nightingale who made women aware of the need of an organization of that kind for women. It is a great satisfaction to meet and work with many types of people."

and, of course, it includes all nationalities, young and old women of all races and different economic levels. It is the largest Christian organization of women in the world."

Miss McLay has had positions with the organization in Mitchell, S. Dak., Beloit, and came to Neenah following 13 years as executive director in Kalamazoo, Mich.

"The Twin Cities are wonderful. There is a great deal of cooperation here with the board and Community Chest and other agencies. Since I have been here the membership has more than doubled — we have nine active clubs connected with the Y and I have been privileged to be an advisor to all of them. I have met literally hundreds of people and feel that I have many good friends here whom I hope to see often."

Miss McLay speaks enthusiastically of the Y-Teens. "We have about 150 young girls and now that they have their own building, it will grow even faster. It is a wonderful feeling to know that you are doing something in your own way to lift the level of citizenship wherever you are."

Miss McLay, who could easily pass for 15 years less than her 65 years, enjoys each one of the clubs that have originated at the Y since she came here. She feels that she has learned something from each group, and particularly enjoys work with international groups, the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women.

Y-Teens

One of her dreams for the local organization is that one day there will be a YWCA residence hall for working women in the Twin Cities. She has been doing research and studying with a civic group the possibilities for growth in usefulness of the YWCA in this area.

She is looking forward, too, to living in her own home in Janesville, after many years away.

"But I am not going to do much resting for long," she said with a twinkle. "I've been too active all my life to spend too much time sitting under an apple tree."

Miss McLay will leave Neenah July 15.

Menasha Boy Rescued From Dam Spillgate

Tried to Get Out

MENASHA — A Menasha boy, nearly pulled through a dam spillgate by strong current in the Fox River, was rescued Sunday afternoon by city policemen, firemen and three citizens.

Michael Meier, 16, 808 Plank Road, jumped into the water from a rented rowboat to retrieve an oar which bounced out when the craft struck a rock at one of the stone piers of the Old Mill Street bridge.

Stayed in Boat

Meier was with Roman R. Marx Jr., also 16, 746 Eighth St., who stayed in the boat, anchored near the dam gates, until he was rescued.

Meier and Marx planned to tie up on the old bridge pier, then decided to row to Jefferson Park when the oar was lost and Meier attempted to recover it, police said.

He was caught in the strong current but grabbed a chain on a closed gate as he was being swept to the open gate adjoining it.

Dan Arlt Jr., 601 School Ct., saw the boy's plight and notified police. The fire department sent a ladder truck and the new emergency vehicle on request of the police.

Meier was pulled from his perch by Patrolman Bernard Konetzke, Ed Schultz, route 2, Menasha, and John Christofferson, 404 10th St., Neenah.

Good Condition

Marx was transferred from his boat to another operated by Patrolmen Roy Collins and Gregory Ropella and Fred Kilham, 504 Riverway. The boat was furnished by Albert Hidde, 516 Riverway.

Meier was reported in good condition at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital today.

Congressman At Dedication Of Post Office

William Van Pelt Guest Speaker at Winneconne Rites

WINNECONNE — Construction of post offices by private citizens who lease them to the government was hailed by Congressman William K. Van Pelt here Sunday afternoon as he aided in dedication of the new village post office.

The congressman lauded the achievements of the Eisenhower Administration which, he said, accomplished more for the postal service in eight years than in the previous 50 years.

Presented to Postmaster Henry W. Luebke a flag which has flown over the national capitol and also over the post office headquarters at Washington, D.C.

2,000 New Offices

Dale Whitman, Minneapolis, field service officer for Northeastern Wisconsin for the postal department, called attention to 2,000 new post offices planned for this year. The postal department is getting ready to move ahead in the field of automation and ways for improved mail service.

He cited several customer conveniences being planned and added that the post office handles on the average a letter each day for the 183 million people in the country.

Allan Arthur served as master of ceremonies and James P. Coughlin, village president, welcomed those at the dedication. The Rev. James Fyfe, of the Presbyterian Church, gave the vocation and benediction and James LaBelle the ode to the flag. The Winneconne High School band provided special music.

Tornado Causes Severe Damage In Illinois Town

PEOTONE, Ill. (AP) — A tornado roared across rural Grundy and Will Counties during a violent rain and hail storm Sunday causing damage that appeared certain to exceed $1 million.

The twister dipped down at Lisbon, skipped eastward along the Kankakee River to Wilmington, then towards Peotone, a community of 1,800.

Joliet, on the northern fringe of the storm area, was battered by hailstones that measured up to three inches. Thousands of windows were broken in the storm that unloosed a half inch of rain in three minutes.

No serious injuries were reported anywhere along the storm's 40-mile path.

The hail, flash floods, the twister itself and accompanying swift winds all contributed to the heavy damage.

In Peotone, Mayor Lewis Schroeder said none of the town's 600 homes escaped damage.

2,000 Persons Tour Police Station During Open House

An unexpectedly large crowd of 2,000 people was escorted through the new addition and the older part of the Appleton Police Station during an open house Sunday.

The men, women and children, who learned about Appleton police operations and saw new facilities, were from all over the Fox Cities area.

A much smaller crowd was expected, Police Chief Walter J. Hendricks said. The force had little chance to rehearse for the tour but the chief said all went very smoothly.

The chief greeted those who toured the building as they passed through his office. He asked their cooperation and urged them to call.

$15,000 Taken From Safe at Supermarket

Burglars Cut Into Thief-Proof Vault in Allouez

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Brown County police are searching for possible leads in the $15,000 burglary of a supposedly "burglar proof" safe in a Town of Allouez Red Owl Store, 1219 S. Webster Ave., late Saturday or early Sunday.

The job, called professional by police, was subject of a statewide alert. The money taken, between $14,000 and $15,000 — $10,000 of it in cash — is an initial estimate.

The safe, one of the newest type, was broken into with electric cutting tools by someone who knew just where to cut, police said.

FBI agents entered the investigation because some of the money was from postal station operations.

Ernest Meyer, manager of the store, said no burglar alarm was installed because the safe was so modern no one thought it necessary.

Police were called after the theft was discovered by the wife of a clerk who noticed a window broken as she passed the store.

Fairmont Asks Split Of Common Stock

The board of directors of Fairmont Foods Co., at its regular meeting today, voted to ask stockholders to split the company's common stock on a 2-for-1 basis.

The proposal will be included in proxy material for the annual stockholders' meeting June 21, 1961. Stockholders will also be asked to increase the authorized common shares from 2,500,000 to 5,000,000.

Dividend action on the new stock will be deferred until after stockholders have had the opportunity to vote on the matter. The first dividend affecting the new stock would be payable on Oct. 1, 1961, since the July 1, 1961 dividend will be declared in May and payable to holders of record on a date early in June. The present quarterly rate of 40 cents per share would thus become 20 cents per share on the new basis.

5 Students Push Bed To Oshkosh

OSHKOSH (AP)—Five Oshkosh State College students returned to the classroom today after pushing a bed from Whitewater to Oshkosh—a distance of some 100 miles.

The students, assigned the task as fraternity pledges, figure they traveled at the rate of 4 m.p.h. However, they received some unexpected help when Jefferson County authorities refused to allow the bed—pushing on county roads. The students, plus bed, hitch-hiked through the county.

The five youths set out from Whitewater at 1:30 Friday afternoon. They arrived in Oshkosh at 7:30 Saturday night.

The students were Robert Reid of Menomonee Falls, Ronald Stelzner of Oshkosh, Victor Kapinas of Maribel, Gary Gerhart of Chilton and James Damm of Fond du Lac.

Appleton Pastor Dies at Home Unexpectedly

The Rev. Bartley E. Lasater, 53, 529 1/2 N. State St., was found dead at his home Sunday evening.

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said the man had been dead for 10 or 12 hours. Death apparently was due to a heart condition.

The Rev. Mr. Lasater was pastor of the Philadelphia Free Church, which meets at the Appleton YMCA, and served a mission church in Clintonville.

The minister was found in his bed by two parishoners and Appleton police about 9:30 p.m. Sunday. The pastor had called one of the men Sunday morning and asked him to conduct services because he was not feeling well. Sunday afternoon another parishoner called at Mr. Lasater's home, but found the apartment locked. Later, the two parish-YMCA called police and entered the apartment.

Remodel Front of Spector Building at Second Floor Level

The front of the Spector Building, 201 W. College Ave., at the second floor level, is being remodeled to provide adequate facilities for radio station WAPL.

Nathan Spector, president of Spector Jewelers, Inc., said the principal portion of the remodeling will be the installation of a large bay window.

Building Inspector Walter Bogan has issued a permit for work estimated to cost $300.

Lawrence Band Spring Concert to Feature Contemporary Music

Six Composers Represented on Program at Chapel Sunday Night

Music of the 20th century so contemporary that five of the six composers are listed in the current volume of "Who's Who in America" has been chosen for the Lawrence Concert Band's spring appearance at 8:15 p. m. Sunday in Memorial Chapel.

The band usually plays its spring concert in May, but since Director Fred G. Schroeder will fly to Hawaii for a week to act as adjudicator and guest director for a massed band festival in the Waikiki Shell, it has been scheduled early.

Composers represented on the program are Aaron Copland, Ernst Toch, Ernst Krenek, Wallingford Riegger and Leonard Bernstein, all cited in the 1960-61 Who's Who volume, and Gordon Jacob.

The first five mentioned have more in common than the directory listing: all are essentially serious composers who have responded to the musical demands of the time to do composing for films, stage and other popular forms.

Two Austrians
Toch and Krenek are Austrians who emigrated to the United States in the mid-thirties while the others are native Americans. Copland's "Fanfare for the Common Man", was written in 1942, several years before he won a Pulitzer Prize for a New York Music Critics Circle Award for his orchestral suite "Appalachian Spring." He is a student in composition of Nada Boulanger, has taught at Harvard, the Berkshire Music Center and the New School for Social Research, and won a movie Oscar for his musical score for "The Heiress."

Toch, who studied in his native Vienna and took a Ph.D. at the University of Heidelberg, has won a great many prizes, among them the Mozart prize given by the city of Frankfurt am Main.

Panel Show Stays Same Through Years
'What's My Line?'
Holds Popularity, Sunday Night Fixture

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—Guests on "What's My Line?" Sunday night were a young man who gives mud baths, a lady who counts fish in a government hatchery and Peter Ustinov, actor and Oscar winner. The panel guessed two—the fish counter and the Oscar winner—which was about par for the show. But as far as the home audience was concerned, correct guesses were only incidental to the personalities and repartee.

In the sudden-death world of TV, this program runs along year after year as a Sunday night fixture. John Daly, Ariene Francis, Dorothy Kilgallen and Bennett Cerf are broadcasting institutions.

Hal Block Emcee
Some of us oldsters remember way back when a wisecracking man named Hal Block had Bennett's chair. We recall Fred Allen's seasons on the panel, too, and Steve Allen's. Nowadays, the No. 2 spot—where the Allens sat—is reserved for visitors who come and go. It's the four regulars that the viewers tune in to see. Over the years, this panel show has changed its rules scarcely at all and its format only once—the panel members now walk in to take their seats. This change was made so the women of the audience could get one good, full-length glimpse of Ariene's and Dorothy's clothes. The girls never let the audience down, either.

lea's most versatile musicians — many, has written for theater, pianist, composer, conductor and musical director of the New York Philharmonic, conductor of a popular television series on music, and author — shows the same multi-faceted personality in his musical compositions. Some of them are eminently serious works, some are for Broadway. The Lawrence band will play the Overture to his 1960 production of "Candide" for which honorary alumnus Richard Wilbur was co-librettist. Bernstein has also written music for films, among them "oh The Water-iron."

Star Lucille Ball Collapses During Broadway Show
NEW YORK (AP)—Lucille Ball, who collapsed onstage during the Saturday night performance of the hit Broadway musical "Wildcat," says she'll be back in the show tonight — despite her doctor's wishes.
The red-haired, 49-year old comedienne, who has an extremely vigorous role, fainted at the beginning of the second act as she was singing "Tippy-Tippy Toes."

Her doctor said she suffered from fatigue and the effects of a virus infection which has plagued her for months. He recommended that she take a long rest.
Miss Ball appeared at the curtain call with Shalah Hackett, the chorus girl who pinch-hit for her during the remainder of the performance. Miss Hackett is the wife of the show's leading man, Keith Andes.

Miss Ball's former husband, TV actor-producer Dezi Arnaz, is in a Hollywood hospital suffering from a severe virus infection and has been undergoing extensive diagnostic tests.

Rockets Down Papermaker Team, 4 to 1

Mory Handler Hurls 3-Hitter, Whacks 2-Run Double

NEENAH — The Neenah Rockets burst out with four runs in the bottom half of the sixth inning here Saturday afternoon and went on to a 4-1 triumph over the Kimberly Papermakers.

Coach Joe Braun's charges bunched two of their three hits in the sixth frame and were aided by two walks and a pair of errors for their four markers. The big blow of the inning was a double by Mory Handler which sent two runners across the plate.

The lefthanded Handler hurled three innings of perfect baseball and faced only four batters in the fifth with one getting on an error. Dave Kringle led off the fifth with the first hit and Keith Buchberger got the other.

'They'll Have to Catch Us This Time'

Weaver Optimistic Over '61 Foxes

Pilot Lauds New Club At Banquet

Manager Earl Weaver predicts another good year for the Fox Cities Foxes in the Three-I League.

Departing from his conservative pre-nuptial race approach of 1960, Weaver told the Foxes' banquet audience Sunday night, "I feel better about this year's prospects than I did at the opening of the season last year."

Citing Foxes assets such as "experience, depth, and good players" Weaver asserted, "We should be the class of the league... Last year, we had to worry about catching them — they'll have to catch us this time."

The manager of the Three-I league's defending champions expressed the hope that fans will feel the same way about this year's team as they did about the '60 club. "They'll give everything they've got every time they're on the field."

By way of introducing the players, Weaver gave these capsule comments:

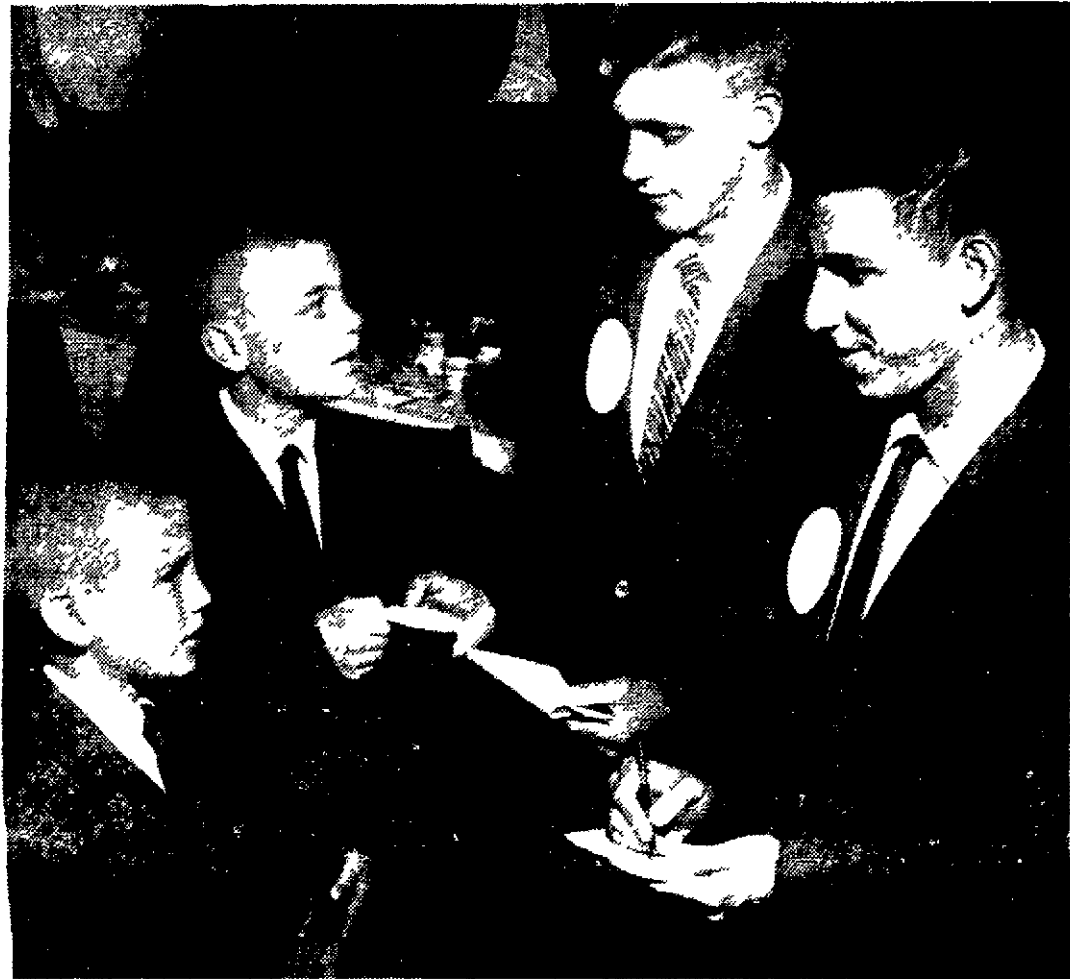

Catcher Art Von Wronski — "Has a major league arm. I hope he'll be able to hit 3-1 League pitching this year."

Catcher John Griffin — "Will be catching same amount of games as Von Wronski. ... can fill in at other positions. ... good thinker."

First baseman Chuck Smiley — "A real hustler. ... his hustle rubs off on other players like Frank Montgomery last year. ... the kind of player people like to come out and see."

Second baseman "Photti" Anderson — "Will be catching same amount of games as Von Wronski. ... can fill in at other positions. ... good thinker."

Vikes' Thomas, Gilboy Defeat Beloit Nine

Go Distance in 11-4 and 8-3 MC Successes

The Lawrence College baseball team got a pair of 7-inning routs, going pitching performances Saturday and beat Beloit 11-4 and 8-3 at Goodland Field.

Junior right-hander Pete Thomas struck out five and walked six. Jim Kupiec and Bob Winkler shared Beloit hurling duties.

Lawrence trailed, 1-0 going into the last half of the third inning of the second contest. The Vikes tied it with one in the third, went ahead, 2-1, in the fourth and then threw a 6-spot at Beloit in the fifth. In that frame there were singles by Thomas, Pizza and Jon Hedrick and a 2-run triple by Gary Larson.

Gilboy struck out three and walked six. The starter and loser was Denny Dodge, who went 4 and 1-3 frames. Jim Steckel and Gary Geiger also hurled for the Vikes.

The victories built Lawrence's record to 2-1 overall and 2-0 in the Wisconsin section of the Midwest Conference's Northern Division.

Lawrence battled from behind to win both games. In the first game Beloit led, 4-0, after four innings. The Vikes tied it with a 4-spot in the fifth and then unloaded for seven runs in the sixth on four hits — singles by Wally Krueger, Bill Heermann, Thomas and Dick

Sullivan Also Hurls Shutout; For Phillies

Art Mahaffey, 22, Philadelphia right-hander, came within one strikeout of joining Bobby Feller and Sandy Koufax in the record books Sunday by retiring 17 Chicago Cubs on strikes in the top half of a busy day.

If it had not been for Mahaffey and Frank Sullivan, who teamed up with a startling pair of 1-0 and 6-0 shutouts for the last-place Phillies, the big news might have been Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, who won game No. 289 on his 40th birthday. Spahn just missed a shutout when Don Hoak homered for Pittsburgh in the ninth, but he won 3-1.

Or it might have been Wally Moon, the spectacular Los Angeles Dodger who continued to slap those "moon shots" over the left field screen at the Coliseum. He hit another, his eighth homer of the season, all to the wrong field for a left-handed batter. Moon's hit gave him a .500 batting average and helped the league-leading Dodgers trim Cincinnati 5-1 on a six-hitter by Roger Craig.

Wins Opener

San Francisco had a chance to take over first place after beating St. Louis 2-1 in the opener. The Giants took a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning of the second game but the Cardinals rose up with five runs in the ninth and got a split, 7-4. Maury McClellan's pinch double drove in three big runs.

Newhouse Calls Today's Baseball Best

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Unlike many another retired player, Hal Newhouse does not expound the theory that a superior brand of baseball was played in the "good old days."

Newhouse, an all-time Detroit Tiger southpaw pitching great, says, "I think present-day baseball is better; players are smarter and instructors are better."

The featured speaker at the Fox Cities Foxes' fourth annual pre-season banquet, Newhouse revealed some of the facets of scouting (his present baseball activity) and recounted some of his experiences.

Cites Williams, "Di Mag"

As his greatest thrills, Newhouse listed winning the 1945 World Series and being named the American League's most valuable player.

Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio were cited as the hitters who gave Newhouse the most trouble in his pitching career. Hal called Williams "the outstanding hitter I pitched against and watched in my 23 years in baseball."

Newhouse termed DiMaggio "the most solid all-around athlete I've seen." Joe was a leader, and everything he did was a "picture," according to Newhouse.

Newhouse called his old rival, Bob Feller the best pitcher he's seen. "No one could come close to throwing as hard as Feller in my 23 years, and he also had one of the great curve balls in baseball."

Scouting is no easy pursuit, Newhouse pointed out to the near-capacity audience in the Appleton Elks Club. He said he traveled about 160,000 miles in six months last year. Newhouse also cited the keen competition for the talent.

Bonus players have cost baseball about $12,000,000, according to Newhouse, who added that it's necessary to be careful in spending an organization's funds. He likened baseball scouts to FBI.

Lawrence's Kersemeier Smashes School Mark With :09.6 'Century'

Don Also Wins '220' as Vikes Cop Quadrangular

Sensational sophomore Don Kersemeier was timed at 9.6 seconds in the 100-yard dash Saturday at Ripon as the Vikings won a quadrangular track meet Kersemeier's brilliant clocking shattered a 22-year-old Lawrence school record. The old standard of .097 was established in 1939 by Joe Graf.

Team point totals were Lawrence, 53½; Stevens Point, 45½; Oshkosh, 45; Ripon, 20.

Kersemeier captured the 220-yard dash in 21.5 to miss the school mark by just three-tenths of a second. That standard is 13 years old.

The Vikes' Mike Ullwelling tied for first in the 440-yard dash in a blazing .50.9, just seven-tenths of a second off the Viking school mark. He deadlocked with Ripon's Bill Tichey.

The Vikes' Bill Stout captured the mile in 4:33.6, and the 2-mile in 10:05.2. Lawrence's Joel Blah.

Buhl Faces Bob Friend Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Warren Spahn, the veteran Milwaukee Braves southpaw, celebrated his 40th birthday Sunday with a 3-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Spahn had four strikeouts and four walks in scoring his first victory of the year. A homer by Don Hoak spoiled his bid for a shutout in the ninth inning Spahn has one loss.

Right-hander Vernon Law, a 20 game winner for the Pirates last year, was tagged with the loss, his third in a row without a victory this season.

The Braves were scheduled for a game against the Pirates tonight with Bob Buhl (0-1) facing Pittsburgh's Bob Friend (2-0).

In 10th Place

Spahn's four strikeouts boosted his lifetime total to 2,085 and put him in 10th place among the all time leaders.

Milwaukee batters blasted Law and Elroy Face for a total of 13 hits, three of them by John DeMerit. Spahn joined in the attack and batted in a run in the ninth.

The Braves scored their first run in the fourth inning as Wes Covington opened with a double, moved to third on an infield out and scored on Charlie Lau's sacrifice fly.

In the fifth inning Roy McMillan hit a double into left. He was out at third, though, on Frank Bolling's attempted sacrifice bunt. Eddie Mathews singled Bolling to third and then Bolling scored as Henry Aaron dropped a single back of second base.

Milwaukee got its final run in the ninth as DeMerit doubled and Spahn singled into centerfield.

The Pirates made serious bids to get to Spahn in the fourth and eighth innings but in each case the left hander pulled himself out of the trouble spot. Roberto Clemente and Hoak singled in the fourth but Spahn got Gino Cimoli to hit into a double play.

There were two outs in the eighth when Bob Skinner walked and Pittsburgh filled the bases on singles by Dick Groat and Clemente. Spahn got Dick Stuart to hit a short fly into left field to end the danger.

Hoak opened the ninth inning with a home run, his first of the year.

St. Mary Splits Doubleheader With Manty '9'

Becker, Koerner Combine for 2-Hit Victory

The St. Mary High School baseball team stretched four hits into a split of a doubleheader Saturday afternoon at Manitowoc. The Zephyrs won the opener, 1-0, but lost the nightcap, 2-0.

Bill Becker hurled the victory although he had to have some help from Jim Koerner in the sixth. Becker developed a sore arm and moved to first base for the remainder of the afternoon.

The Becker-Koerner combination limited Manitowoc to two hits. Al Zipperer singled in the fourth, and Jerry Kiel had a safe hit in the sixth.

3 Hits Off Zipperer

St. Mary got only three hits off Zipperer but an error combined with one of the blows, accounted for the winning run.

Becker led off the fifth with a double and came all the way around on a ground out and an error on the shortstop.

Becker struck out nine in five and two-thirds innings. He gave up one of the hits and walked one. Koerner fanned two, walked one and hit a batter.

The Shipbuilders tallied single runs in the second and fifth innings to win the second game. Phil Keller allowed four hits, struck out two, and walked three.

Jack Resch's triple and a passed ball led to the second inning score while Zipperer's 3-base poke and an error on the relay accounted for another run in the game.

Bill Buchholz set the Zephyrs down with just one hit in the second game, a single by Jim Koerner. Buchholz struck out five and walked one.

Now, by driving your carburetor clean, you can burn more free air, burn less gasoline to get more miles per gallon:

Engineers say: "Air is free. Gasoline costs money. Most cars today are using too much gasoline in stop-and-go driving because their carburetors are dirty."

Here's how new Skelly Regular Gasoline can help you cut your gasoline costs ... just by driving:

Gasoline won't burn in your engine without air. In fact, your engine needs to "breathe" about 9,500 gallons of air just to burn one gallon of gasoline. But when dirty deposits build up in your carburetor's throat, your engine can't get all the air it needs to run efficiently and economically at slow engine speeds. Then it may idle "rough," stall easily and die frequently in traffic or at stop signs. A smart mechanic may tell you, "You should be burning more air and less gasoline." It's a sign he knows his business. There are 3 ways to get your engine to burn more air when the throttle is completely closed. One is to have your carburetor reset so that your engine will idle faster. This lets more air in — but it also lets more gasoline in, too. So that doesn't cut fuel costs. The second way is to have your carburetor taken off and cleaned. This may cost you from $8.50 to $25. The third way is to clean your carburetor yourself — just by driving — by switching to Skelly Regular Gasoline with detergent-action KT-3. KT-3 dissolves the gum that binds dirty deposits to vital carburetor areas. As you drive, you get your carburetor cleaner, cleaner, cleaner, so that your engine can burn more free air and less gasoline. You Pay No More For KT-3: It costs Skelly extra to bring you KT-3 (for manufacturing, transporting and injecting it into Skelly Regular Gasoline at terminal points around the country). But you don't pay extra to get KT-3 in Skelly Regular Gasoline. Try it. If your car uses regular gasoline, switch to new Skelly Regular with KT-3. Burn more free air, and less gasoline, to get more miles per gallon.

Cleaner Carburetor

Cleans carburetors 30% better than all additives tested. New Skelly Regular with KT-3 dissolves the gum that binds dirty deposits to vital carburetor areas shown by arrows above. That lets your engine breathe free — and does it just by driving!

... And A Cleaner Engine, Too: New Skelly Regular with KT-3 also ...

- Cleans valve areas 20% better than all additives tested.
- Cleans intake systems 19% better than all additives tested.
- Even cleans your combustion chambers better than all additives tested.

New API Oil Change Recommendations: Every 30 days in winter Every 60 days in summer Never to exceed 2,000 miles. Skelly endorses these recommendations.

Admit Morrison '9' To Valley League

New Team Is Champion Of Northeastern Circuit

Morrison, last year's champion in the Northeastern Baseball League, Sunday was admitted to the Fox River Valley League making it an 8-team circuit for the 1961 season.

Six of the seven league members unanimously agreed to accept the new league entry. The Menasha Macs were the only club not represented at the meeting.

Morrison manager Marv Saenger reported on facilities available and said that outside of the field needing rolling, it was in good condition.

Secretary-treasurer Frank Warner and Kaukauna manager Jerry Klarer visited the Morrison park during the week and told other league members it looked like a good setup.

Morrison is about 15 miles southeast of Kaukauna making it within easy traveling distance for all league members.

Since it will not be necessary to have byes during the season with an 8-team circuit it was decided that Fond du Lac will play at Morrison on the opening weekend, May 21. Formerly, Fond du Lac had a bye.

In other action, Gene Kloes formally withdrew the Appleton Valley Fair franchise from the league.

thony — "Probably best second baseman in the league last year and should be again . . . has been hitting well . . . we'll give him vitamins and more rest this year to keep him over .300."

Shortstop Dick Yench—"I don't think we'll miss Mickey McGuire" (originally slated to be the Foxes' shortstop) . . . "Has proven he can field . . . has been hitting well in camp . . . everybody will love to watch him."

"Nellie" Cochran—"Plays one mean third base . . . makes tough plays and hits the ball when he has to . . . has the kind of arm that makes fans gasp."

Outfielder Ron Piotrowski—"One of best hustlers . . . has advanced in baseball a step at a time."

Outfielder Sam Bowens—"One of our biggest and strongest players and also one of the fastest runners . . . can play all positions . . . I'm counting on his bat for a lot of home runs."

Outfielder Joe Pulliam—"He'll prove this summer that he's going places in baseball . . . we're fortunate to have him playing center field."

Outfielder Jim Liggett—"Has power to all fields."

Herman Starlette—"A steady pitcher who won 17 games for me in 1959. He'll pitch our opener."

Pitcher Dave Vineyard—"Such a good prospect that Cleveland is still mad we drafted him."

Pitcher Bob Dunlap—"Had one of the best records in the Baltimore organization last year . . . Good bet to win here."

Pitcher John Ellen—"Has sharp curve and good fast ball . . . a better pitcher at this point than John Papa was last year."

Pitcher Dick Tetrault—"One of the two best pitchers with the Leesburg club last year."

Pitcher Bob Scott—"In his last two games in spring training, he looked as good as any pitcher I've seen."

Pitcher John Miller—"Came out of high school to Winter Instructional League . . . In first game came in with bases loaded and none out, he struck out two and got the other on a pop-out . . . that's the way he pitched the rest of the time."

Pitcher Paul Knechtges—"Throwing the ball harder than ever . . . should be one of our real stable pitchers."

Pitcher Joe Pulco—"I believe he's the pitcher to take (relieve) Dick Hunt's place."

Ray McClone, club president, reviewed the 1960 team's pennant success and lauded Weaver's aggressiveness and called him "a champion in his own right." He thanked fans, officials and advertisers for their parts in keeping baseball in the Fox Cities.

"It takes cooperation from a group of people to make it go," said McClone.

Bob Lloyd served as master of ceremonies.

Warren Spahn, His Face glistening with sweat, watches Johnny DeMerit bite into a slice of Spahn's birthday cake in the Milwaukee Braves' dressing room Sunday after a 3-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Spahn, 40 years old Sunday, presented himself with a birthday present. The southpaw pitched a 7 - hit game. DeMerit hit safely three times.

Braves' Ageless Wonder

Spahn Credits Slider for Success Over Pirates, Needs 11 More for 300

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Warren Spahn is more than a veteran southpaw for the Milwaukee Braves — he's somewhat of an ageless wonder. He proved it Sunday, his 40th birthday, in downing the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1.

"I went out on that mound with something entirely new for an 'old man'," Spahn said beaming. "I pitched an entirely different ball game against Pittsburgh than I did last year. They kept looking for the pitch outside and I came in with my slider."

Spahn needs only 11 more victories to give him a total of 300 for his major league career.

Added Weapon

"I think I caught them with that slider," Spahn said. "It was an added weapon I was able to use with my screwball. They didn't know what to expect."

There was little doubt that Spahn's slider played a big part in stifling the Pittsburgh attack. Only last week he made a point of spreading the word that he had been practicing that slider he displayed so masterfully but hadn't been able to perfect it to a point where he could use it.

Spahn, who has won 20 or more games 11 times in his brilliant career that began with the old Boston Braves in 1942, said there was a brief moment in the eighth inning of the contest when he wasn't positive everything was going to work out his way.

ping Los Angeles 3-1 and 3-2 in 11 innings and lengthened the Angels' losing string to seven games. The Tigers held a half game lead in the American League over Minnesota, a 1-0 winner over Washington. Baltimore thumped New York 4-1 with 13 hits and Cleveland outlasted Kansas City 10-8. Chicago bounced back with a 7-1 victory in the second game to split with Boston, a 4-3 winner in the opener.

Mahaffey was pitching for the Phils' Buffalo farm club in the International League a year ago. They didn't bring him up to the parent club until July 28. He responded by rolling up a 7-3 record. That marked him as a most promising young man. Sunday's feat may be only the first of many to come from the talented fast baller.

Fans Nine

In the first four innings Mahaffey struck out nine men. Going to the ninth he had 16. He struck out the first man but fell one short of the record of 18 set by Feller of Cleveland in 1938 and tied by Koufax of the Dodgers in 1959. Mahaffey allowed only four hits.

Although Dick Ellsworth allowed only three hits in the first game, the Phils beat him behind Sullivan when Bobby Gene Smith crashed a home run in the ninth.

Moon continued his fantastic spring spurt in the Coliseum where he has hit safely in all 12 games. Don Demeter also homered for the Dodgers and Jerry Lynch smashed his second pinch homer for the Reds.

Just when the Giants appeared poised to take over first place, the Cardinals rose up with their five-run spurt in the ninth to grab the second game. McDermott, signed as a free agent to help the bullpen corps, smashed his three-term rivals in a two-day meet which ended Saturday.

Birdie Spree By Hebert Brings Playoff

Ties Ken Venturi On Final Round Of Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP)—Jay Hebert met Ken Venturi in an 18-hole playoff today after picking up five strokes in the last five holes of the final round to gain a tie in the $40,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Hebert, the 1960 PGA champion, birdied three of the last four holes Sunday as Venturi, last year's second-leading money winner, took bogies on three of the last five.

Hebert, '38, closed his birdie spree with a 25-foot putt on the final green for a 67 and a 72-hole

Brue Ties for 12th

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Brue of Milwaukee, former Wisconsin Open champion, Sunday won $284.17 by finishing in a 10-way tie for 12th place in the $40,000 Houston Golf Classic Tournament.

276, four under par for the 7,122-yard par 70 Memorial Park course.

Misses Putt

Venturi, 29, the Californian who has picked up over $151,000 in less than five years as a pro, missed a 30-foot putt that would have avoided the Classic's third, straight playoff.

Hebert had earlier rounds of 69, 71, and 69. Venturi opened with a pair of 70s and closed with a pair of 68s.

Today's round was worth $7,000 to the winner, $3,600 to the loser. Venturi had shared the third round lead with Peter Thomson and Tommy Bolt. He took command in the final round with birdies on the first two holes and held the lead until he missed the long birdie on the final green.

Venturi dropped a stroke by missing the green on 14. His first shot hit a pine tree on 15 and he took another bogie on a hole Hebert had birdied with an eight-foot putt.

Missed 10-Footer

Both birdied 16, but Venturi missed a 10-footer that would have given him an eagle.

Bolt took a bogie on 18 and collected $2,500 for third place at 278. Lionel Hebert, Jay's brother, was the only other player from a starting field of 107 pros to break par over 72 holes. He won $2,200 for 279. Julius Boros received $1,900 for a par 280. Thomson took a final round 75 to share a five-way tie at 283 with Arnold Palmer. Gary Player, Paul Harney and Bill Casper Jr. Each received $1,200.

Ghosts Pull Triple Play

Kaukauna '9' Loses To Shawano High, 6 3

miscues in the field kept him in hot water. Wachel walked two.

The triple play came in the sixth inning when Shawano loaded the bases. John Mutter hit a tap to Wachel who wheeled to the plate to force one out. John Lambie, Ghost catcher, fired to first to get Mutter for the second out. The Indians Merle Groskopf had advanced to third and thinking there was three outs, walked off the base and was promptly tagged for the third out.

Shawano scored four times in the third inning, and added single tallies in the fourth and sixth. Kaukauna scored all of its runs in the top of the sixth.

An error, a walk, a wild pitch and Fred Steger's single produced all of the Ghost tallies.

The win was Shawano's third straight this season. It was the first game for Kaukauna. Steve Heller had two hits in as many trips to pace the Indians.

Hortonville Track Team Beats Gillett

The Hortonville High School track team set four school records enroute to a 67-51 win over Gillett Friday afternoon.

It was the second straight win for the Polar Bears, who had whipped Winneconne, 87-31, in their opener.

Dave Ruppel broke two records Friday, with a 5-foot, 8-inch high hurdle jump and a 17.5-second clocking with four teams in the 1961 - 62 season.

Spaulding ran the 440 in a school record time of :56.6. The sprint so medley relay team of Al Buman, Rog Mulroy, Henry Kober and clubs — Green Bay, Minneapolis, Des Moines and Rochester, Minn. A commissioner will be selected from a list of applicants at the next league meeting the first week in June at Duluth, Minn.

Two clubs withdrew from the league. West Allis reported it was unable to interest financial backers and the representative for Marquette, Mich., said his team would be unable to compete in the league at least until the 1962-63 season.

Wayne Winters was a double winner for the second straight time, taking both dashes.

Shiocton will invade the Hortonville track at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

State Courts To Be Uniform

BY REINY WESSING
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When Wisconsin's court system reorganization act goes into effect Jan. 1, 1962, the state's hodgepodge of special courts with special jurisdictions will be no more.

Instead there will be four levels of courts — the state Supreme Court, Circuit courts, County courts and Justice of the Peace courts.

All of the special courts, such as Municipal courts, Children's courts, Superior courts and Small Claims courts will be abolished as far as name and special jurisdiction are concerned.

Each will become a branch of the County Court in its respective county, and each will have jurisdiction nearly concurrent with Circuit courts.

First of Series

The only criminal case a County Court cannot handle is treason. The only civil case a County Court cannot handle is one in which damages sought by the plaintiff exceed $25,000. Should a civil case for less than $25,000 start in County Court and a counterclaim for more than $25,000 be filed, the case must be transferred to Circuit Court.

As the courts are organized today there are a variety of special courts, each created by a special act of the legislature. Their jurisdictions vary widely. Even the courts with the same name do not have the same powers. There are numerous Municipal courts, but their individual powers are much different.

Outagamie County's Municipal Court has a dual function. It has a lower branch and an upper branch. The lower branch is comparable to a justice of the peace court, while the upper branch is almost like a Circuit Court, with nearly unlimited civil and criminal jurisdiction.

There are other Municipal courts in the state which are simply justice courts.

Justice Courts

It is the regular Justice of the Peace courts that are going to be affected most by the reorganization act. For all practical purposes they are almost completely wiped out.

After Jan. 1, 1962 justices of the peace will be able to handle only two types of cases—assault and battery and disorderly conduct. This makes it hardly worthwhile for anyone to run for the office, because the small number of cases he would get and the small amount of fees he would collect will not make it a lucrative job.

And this is the very reason the powers of JPs will be cut so drastically. It is contended that many times real justice cannot be obtained in a JP court, because the judge depends on convictions to collect fees. If he rules a man not guilty there is no fee forthcoming.

(Illinois also has reorganized its court system, limiting the number of JPs a city, village or town can have and putting them on a straight salary.)

Another argument against JPs is that many of them are not well versed in the law.

Wisconsin's new court act permits cities, villages and towns to create Municipal Justice of Peace courts, with jurisdiction comparable to what JPs have now.

But the municipal justices will not receive any fees. They will be on a straight salary, set by the individual cities, villages or towns. Fees and fines collected will go into the respective treasuries.

Communities which feel that the amount of fees and fines likely to be collected will not pay for having a justice probably will not create such a court.

As an example, Kimberly and Kaukauna thus far have refused to establish Municipal Justice of the Peace courts. All minor cases arising in these communities will be litigated in one of Outagamie County's County courts.

Municipal JP Powers

Municipal justices will be able to handle eight types of cases. (All on the misdemeanor or traffic law level).

1. Exclusive jurisdiction over offenses against city, village or town ordinances.
2. Recovery of personal property.

Madison Judge Will Stop Practice of Dismissing Cases

MADISON (AP)—Superior Judge Roy H. Proctor has agreed to stop his practice of dismissing traffic cases on payment of costs—a practice objected to by the State Traffic Patrol because it permits a motorist to escape demerit points which could mean the loss of his driving license.

The department started an action against Proctor before Circuit Judge Richard W. Bardwell to force Proctor to stop his dismissal-on-costs practice.

Bardwell agreed Friday to withdrawal of the state action on the condition that Proctor insist on a guilty or innocent plea from all motorists accused of a driving violation. Proctor agreed to do this.

Federal Paper Net Drops in First Quarter

Earnings of Federal Paper Board Co., Inc., fell to $524,000, or 32 cents a share, in the first 12 weeks of 1961, from $908,000, or 64 cents a share, in the year earlier period, John R. Kennedy, president, told the annual meeting in New York.

Sales for the recent period totaled $17,906,000, down from $19,826,000 in the first 12 weeks of 1960.

Federal Paper Board will spend $15 million to build a paper board mill at Versailles Conn. Kennedy said plans call for installation of a new type paper board machine at the proposed plant. Known as the "Inverform," it has been tested for two years and combines the high speed and high quality production of machines now in use, he said.

Kennedy said the new mill is expected to be in operation by the fall of 1962. "With its greater efficiencies and improved products, the mill is expected to contribute substantially to the earning power of our company," he told shareholders.

The president called construction of the mill the second step in plans for a "major change" in production facilities. The first step, he said, was suspension of production last November at the

Foxes' 3-I League Rivals Optimistic

6 Cedar Rapids Players Return; Topeka May be 'Loaded'

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Three-I League will open its 1961 season Tuesday with all six clubs optimistic.

A check of the makeup of the six entries indicates that this could be one of the tightest races in several years.

The prospects for the Foxes are five rivals:

Burlington — The Bee's pitching staff has a "lefthanded tint" as six of the 11 are portersiders. Julio Imbert (8-8 last year with Burlington), Jim Little (10-5 with Dubuque, Class D), Larry West (14-8 with Grand Forks, Class C) and Ken Whitmore (16-5 with Hobbs, Class D) form the backbone of the staff.

All started the season with Burlington last year but were sent out after a few weeks.

Another lefthander, who could help Manager Harding Peterson, is Fred Bork (15-4 at Hobbs). The club has also obtained Fred Newman from the Los Angeles Angel organization to bolster the starting staff.

The club should have more power than it had a year ago with First baseman Tom Rinks, (.324 at Hobbs) a $25,000 bonus prospect out of San Diego State College, and Outfielder Art Blunt (.303 at Dubuque) providing the most potential. Rinks had 14 homers and 91 runs batted in, and Blunt hit 26 round trippers and drove in 92 runs.

Peterson will count as a returnee behind the plate and Ronnie Bland will return to the infield, this time at third base.

Felix Pizarro, a cousin of the White Sox' Juan, is expected to give the Bees a top defensive effort in center field. Another outfielder is Russ Mueller, formerly of the University of Wisconsin team.

CEDAR RAPIDS — Second baseman Ron Hunt, outfielders Hermond Hubbard, Steve Ryder, Marcial Allen and Charlie Smith and Joe Trenary are all back with the Braves representative in the league. Trenary is currently holding down the third base position in this his sixth year in the league.

Larry Huebner, of Hortonville, is one of the starting members of Manager Jimmy Brown's hurling staff. Larry is now in his second full season of professional baseball.

Other starting pitchers include Tony Komisar, a lefthander just out of the service, Paul Roof, John Braun (of Madison), Dick Kelley, and Gerry Glynn.

Archie White, who made 33 appearances at Yakima (Class B) last year is the ace of the bullpen.

DES MOINES — The Demons will have good speed and a good defense, this year according to the early reports. The club is very high on a young lefthander named Jim Mollenbrey. Mollenbrey performed at Tampa (Class D) last year.

Starrette Back With Weaver

Eyes Return To 17-Win Form of '59

Fox Cities fans hope that the reunion of pitcher Herm Starrette and Manager Earl Weaver produces happy results.

In 1959, while pitching for Weaver's Aberdeen club, Starrette enjoyed the best of his three professional seasons — a 17-7 record. He pitched 16 complete games and 196 total innings, striking out 154 and walking only 54. His ERA was 3.49.

A 22-year-old right-hander, Starrette compiled an 9-7 record for Class C Stockton last season. In 142 innings, he fanned 91 and walked only 31 and had a 3.42 ERA. He also pitched four innings for Vancouver, of the Pacific Coast League.

Starrette, a 6-footer, hails from Statesville, N. Car., and debuted with Aberdeen in 1958, winning seven and losing nine.

Weaver says Starrette's style is similar to that of Chuck Symeon, of the 1960 Foxes. Foxes' fans regard this as a good testimonial. Symeon, despite arriving after the season was well under way, won 11 of 16 decisions.

Des Moines Pitchers Fire 3 No-Hitters
Des Moines pitchers threw three no-hitters during the 1960 Three-I League season.

Andre Bessette posted a 5-0 shut-out over Lincoln May 4. John Kerrigan beat Cedar Rapids, 8-1, July 10. Kerrigan fired another no-hitter July 29, but lost, 3-1, to Lincoln.

New Pride and Confidence In Foxes Evident This Year

Dunlap's Change to Mound Proves First-Year Success

Jim Dunlap, the winningest pitcher in the Baltimore farm system for 1960, is trying to make mound when he was signed by another Bucky Walters-type of success story.

Jim Liggett Looms as Hefty Hitter

During 1961 spring training, outfielder Jim Liggett continued to swing the same potent bat he displayed in 1960 Arizona Winter League action.

The 19-year-old outfielder, who has been in pro baseball for less than a year, hit at a .314 clip during the winter league.

Liggett played 92 games for Stockton last season after being signed off the University of California campus for an approximate bonus of $10,000. He batted .257 and bashed 13 homers among his 25 extra-base hits. His RBI total was 53.

The right-handed hitting Liggett lives in Concord, Calif. He had completed his freshman year at "Cal" when he signed into baseball.

Baltimore last spring. His powerful arm impressed scouts.

Dunlap fired away for a 16-12 record, a notable achievement in view of his team's (Leesburg) last-place finish in the Florida State League.

Dunlap's strikeout total of 216 (in 223 innings) was second highest in the Orioles chain. (Only Steve Dalkowski's 262 for Stockton was higher). Dunlap walked 105 and had a glossy earned run average of 2.66.

With 15 complete games, Dunlap tied Fox Cities' Dean Chance and Stockton's Hugh Springer for the top total in the Baltimore system. Dunlap spun three shut-outs.

The 24-year-old Dunlap is a resident of Pittsburgh. The new Foxes right-hander scales 183 and stands 5-11.

Foxes Road Record Batters Home Mark

The 1960 Three-I League champion Fox Cities Foxes posted a better record on the road than they did at home.

The Foxes copped 42 games and lost 27 in enemy parks. At Goodland Field they won 40, lost 29.

Thrill of Championship Carries Over; Prestige and Grandstand Roof Could Help Attendance

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

As the fourth season of Three-I League baseball dawns in the Fox Cities, Foxes fans have greater pride and confidence in their team than ever before.

The pride is a natural by-product of the championship won by the 1960 Foxes — a monumental-type feat that ended a 50-year professional baseball pennant famine.

Underlying the new confidence is the knowledge that the Baltimore Orioles organization will again supply the players who'll appear at Goodland Field. Even though second baseman "Pho!" Anthony is the sole season-opening returnee from the great '60 team, the feeling persists that the Orioles are providing the type of players who could make the '61 Foxes a contender.

The prestige of the Foxes' current championship reign plus the abandonment of pro baseball in Green Bay enhance the exclusiveness of the Fox Cities product. Only one spot in the entire state—Milwaukee County Stadium—can provide fans with a faster brand of baseball than that on display at Goodland Field.

A Big Challenge
Green Bay's withdrawal from the league (principally traceable to fan apathy) also represents a big challenge to the Fox Cities. This is the first time that an area team will be going it alone in pro ball. In every previous Appleton or Fox Cities' season (State League, 3-I league, etc.) the local team was paired with one or more other Wisconsin entries for purposes of rivalry and travel convenience.

The Foxes' "lone wolf" act will constitute another attendance test. In 1960, the turnstiles count hit 61,000, the high for the club's 3-year history.

With the costs of fielding a club increasing every year, attendance must remain at a high level if the club is to continue its enviable record of remaining in the black. The Foxes have shown an operational profit for three straight years.

The projected new grandstand roof should prove a gate boon —

Chuck Smiley, who ranked among the Baltimore farm sys- tem leaders in home runs and runs - batted - in last year, looms as a worthy successor to "Boog" Powell as the Fox Cities first baseman.

In three years of pro baseball, Smiley's experience has ranged from Class C to AA. His best season, from the batting average standpoint, was 1958 when he hit .303 for Knoxville in the Class A Sally League.

Last season, Smiley hit 14 home runs for Aberdeen (Class C) and added two more with Little Rock (AA). His RBI total for both clubs was 85. Smiley's plate average for 111 games at Aberdeen was .278.

Cochran Has 'All-Star' Credentials

Bonus Infielder Earned Honors In Winter Loop

Nielsen "Nellie" Cochran may not swing quite as powerful a bat as his two Fox Cities Foxes third base predecessors — "Potato" Pascual and Pete Ward — but the Byron, Miss., lad has impressive credentials as an all-round per- former.

Cochran was voted the all-eyr third baseman in the 1960 Ariz- ona Winter Instructional League. He played the position for Balti- more's title-winning entry.

The 20-year-old Cochran con- tinued his improvement in spring training and stood out in the Thomasville, Ga., camp. The 6-foot-1 infielder hit only .243 in the Class C Northern League last year but drove in 54 runs and hit eight homers.

He broke in with Bluefield in 1959, hitting .259 for 63 games.

Cochran has a strong arm. In fact, he began his baseball car- eer as a pitcher, leading his high school team to two Mississippi state titles in the smaller of two classifications.

He was signed for a bonus of $15,000 and transformed right-handed.

The 21-year-old Knechtges is a 174-pound 6-footer.

Foxes Hit 58 Homers On Road, 19 at Home

Of the 77 home runs hit by the Fox Cities Foxes in 1960, only 19 were swatted in roomy Goodland Field.

"Photti" Anthony, second base- man with the 1961 Foxes, hit three Goodland Field homers, the club's second high home total in '60. Charley Johnson smacked four.

Montgomery Led 3-1 In Two Departments

Outfielder-infielder Frank Mont- gomery, of the 1960 Fox Cities Foxes, led the Three-I League in two departments.

Montgomery, now in college and still a possible 1961 Fox, was tops in the circuit in runs (with 111) and in walks (with 132). He stole 36 bases to rank among the leaders in that department.

Six League Marks Tied Or Broken

A total of six records were tied or broken in the Three-I League during the 1960 season, two by the champion Fox Cities Foxes.

The Foxes received 836 bases on balls, 21 more than Quincy did in 1952. And, they stranded 1,230 base-runners, 37 more than Quin- cy did in 1951.

Topeka players struck out 1,031 times to break Cedar Rapids' team record of 893, set in 1960. Four other clubs also bettered that mark—Fox Cities, 1,025; Des Moines, 1,017; Cedar Rapids, 1,013; Sioux City, 1,001.

The other team mark broken was Terre Haute's mark of few- est sacrifice hits (36) set in 1935. Sioux City had just 26 last sea- son.

Green Bay's Dick Smith tied a circuit record for most times striking out—with 148. Olney Pat- erson of Quincy (1948) and Rob- ert Setzer of Springfield (1949) al- so fanned 148 times.

Cedar Rapids' Phil Roof had the most put-outs by a catcher— 900. That was 121 more than Joe Lonnett of Terre Haute in 1950.

Sam Bowens Is 'Handy' Heavy Hitter Can Play Almost Every Position

Sam Bowens is the "handiest" of the 1961 Fox Cities Foxes and he may also be one of the team's heaviest hitters.

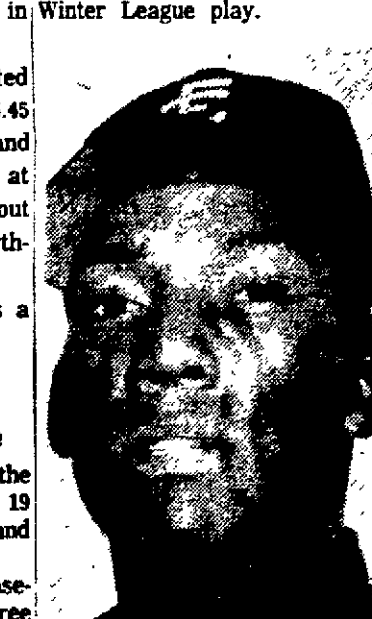

At Bluefield (Class D) last sea- son, the Texas A and I product hit .324 — the third highest mark in the Oriole minor league sys- tem. (Only Chuck Hinton's .369 and Pete Ward's .345 topped it).

Bowens drove in 41 runs in only 57 games and whacked 29 extra base hits, of which 21 were doubles.

The strapping (6-3, 195 pounds) athlete will start off in the out- field but can play almost any other position. He began his pro career as an infielder—in a brief stint at Leesburg last season.

The 22-year-old Bowens, who lives in Wilmington, N. C., also looked impressive in Arizona Winter League play.

Weaver Seeks To Keep His Club on Top

Fiery Pilot Has Led 4 Leagues In Fielding

The most fiery and most suc- cessful manager in the Three-I League during the 1960 season— Earl Weaver—leads the Foxes in defense of their pennant this term.

In four full seasons as a man- ager, Weaver has guided his team to successive finishes of fourth, third, second and first. The scrappy, little (5-7, 160- pound) pilot has a reputation for run-ins with umpires. He was ejected from a number of games last summer.

Weaver was the only manager in organized baseball to win two pennants in 1960. After guiding the foxes to the Three-I flag, he managed Baltimore's Arizona Winter League club to a cham- pionship.

ord of .985 while with New Or- leans of the Southern Association in 1955.

Weaver, 30, had several highly- unusual experiences in his play- ing career. He homered on the first pitch thrown to him in pro- fessional ball. And, one day, he swatted a grand slam home run while hitting for the cycle, with a triple, a double and a single.

Weaver's managing experience dates to 1956, after a pro playing career which started in 1948. He's done some playing on each of his managing jobs.

Many Alumni of First Three Foxes Editions Are Still Going Strong

Club Proves Good Training Spot for Majors and High-Classification Minors

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In its three seasons in the Class B Three-I League, the Fox Cities franchise has proved to be a fertile training ground for higher classification clubs and the major leagues.

At last report, there were five former Foxes in the majors — four on the roster of the American League's Minneapolis Twins. The Foxes' delegation on the Twins includes pitchers Ted Sadowski, Lee Stange and Fred Bruckbauer and regular shortstop Zoilo Versalles.

Sadowski pitched for the 1958 Foxes, Bruckbauer for the '59 club and Stange hurled for both. Versalles was the shortstop on the 1959 team, the last Foxes unit affiliated with Washington.

Wood Was Here

Current Detroit Tigers' second baseman Jake Wood played with the 1959 Foxes, on loan from the Tiger organization.

A compilation of current locations of ex-Foxes is difficult at this stage of the season. Clubs change their rosters almost on a day-to-day basis as they prepare for out-of-town dates.

For example, pitcher John Papa — a 1960 Fox — opened the season with Baltimore but was sent to Rochester of the Class AAA International League.

Many members of the 1958 and 1959 units are out of baseball. Among the '58 Foxes who are still fighting for work in the majors are: "Sandy" Valdespino, Jim Hall, Bill Felker and Earl Furlow.

With Syracuse

Outfielder Valdespino is with triple A Syracuse of the International League as is utility man Hall. Pitchers Furlow and Felker are with Nashville of the Class AA Southern Association.

The manager of the 1959 Foxes, Jack McKeon, is serving as field and business manager of Wilson in the Class B Carolina League. Chuck Weatherspoon, most popular player with the '59 Foxes, is still with him.

Frank Franchi, who failed in a shot here, has looked good as a Nashville infielder this spring. Infielders Jim Johnson and Nate Oliver, at last word, were still in the farm systems of New York and the Dodgers, respectively.

"Al" Castellanos is a pitcher for Vera Cruz in the Class AA Mexican League.

With Little Rock

Nine members of the 1960 Three-I League champion Foxes were with Class AA Little Rock at last report. This group includes: pitchers Pat Gillick, Jim Lebew, George Stepanovich and Arne Thorsland, catchers Jim Carver and Cal Ripken, infielder Bob Saveryne and outfielders Charley Johnson and Pete Ward.

Pitchers Papa and "Buster" Narum and first baseman "Boog" Powell are with Rochester. Outfielder Ray Youngdahl and pitcher Dick Hunt are with Victoria of the Class AA Texas League.

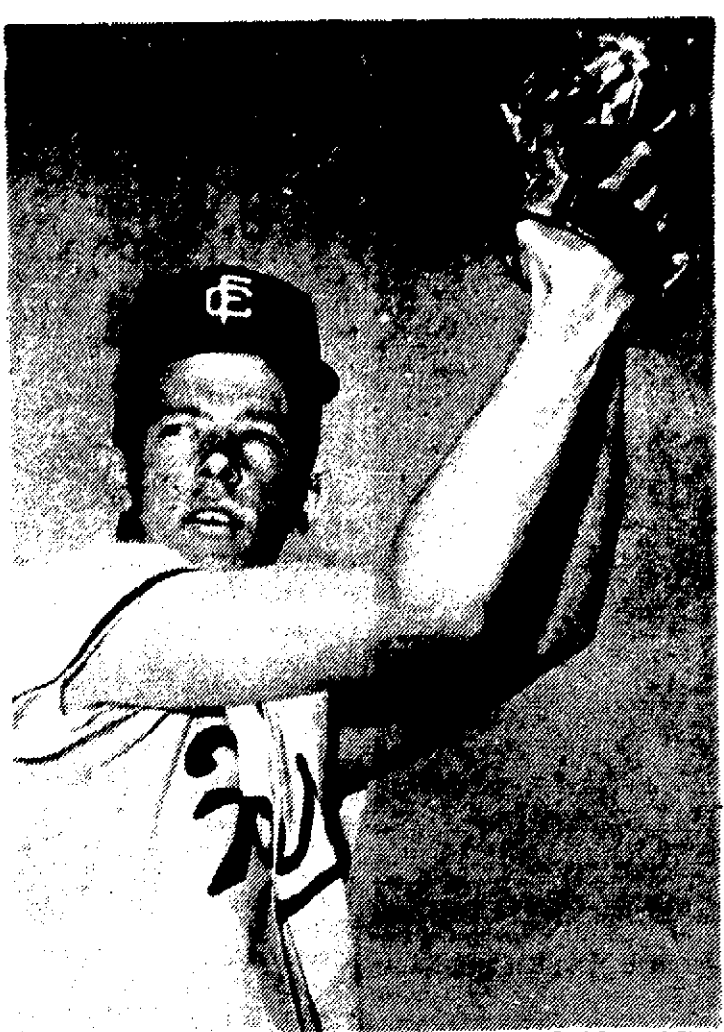

Pitcher Dean Chance, drafted from Baltimore for $75,000 last winter by the Los Angeles Angels has been farmed to Dalls - Ft. Worth of the Class AAA American Association. Utility man Jack McGowan is in military service and outfielder Frank Montgomery is attending college.

Three Hurlers Share One of Foxes' Nine Shutouts in 1960

Fox Cities' pitchers tossed nine shutouts in 1960, with three sharing one of them.

The 3-man job took place July 20 at Goodland Field in a 3-0, 15-inning win over Lincoln.

Arne Thorsland tossed the first 11 and 2-3 innings, Jim Lebew hurled one-third of a frame and "Butch" Hunt tossed the last three innings and was credited with the win.

Vern Hoscheit Has Varied Background in Three-I Loop

Though Tuesday opens his first full season as president of the Three-I League, Vern Hoscheit is an old hand in the venerable Class B circuit.

He was a player, manager and general manager in the loop during a 5-season period from 1953 through 1957. And, he served almost the entire 1960 campaign as 3-I president.

Hoscheit was unanimously elected to succeed Hal Totten — now president of the Class AA Southern Association — early in May, 1960.

Hoscheit, 39, plans to be here for Tuesday night's season opener.

With Norfolk

He started his pro baseball career in 1941 with Norfolk of the Class D Western League. He continued as a player only until 1947 — except for a 3-year stint in military service during World War II. From 1948 through 1951 he was player-manager of the McAlester club in the Class D Sooner State League. He was player-manager of Class C Joplin in the Western Association in 1952.

Hoscheit served as player-manager of Quincy in the Three-I in 1953 and 1954 and added the general manager's duties in 1955, his last campaign as a player. In 1957 he moved over to Peoria, also then in the 3-I, as manager-GM. In 1958 and 1959, he performed the same duties with Greensboro in the Class B Carolina League.

Hoscheit scouted for Baltimore from Jan. 1, 1960 until his selection as Three-I president. Married, he's the father of two girls.

last season, winning 13 and losing 8.

The parent Phillies have sent what they believe is their best catching prospect to the Des Moines club this year. He is Pat Corrales from Fresno, Calif.

The club has Richie Haines in center field. Haines was signed, along with his twin brother, out of Montclair, N.J. High School and was a former prep football All-American.

Left-hander Andre Bessette heads a list of five returnees. Bessette hurled a no-hitter in the league last year. Other returnees are Karl Heron, at second base, Bob Bubash, Ed Radzevich, and Ed Kelly.

LINCOLN — Sources out of Lincoln call the 1961 edition of The Chiefs the best club they have had under the Chicago White Sox.

The team boasts of a solid infield of Gary Johnson, Don Biasotti, Dan Adams, and Dayton Orsburn. Johnson played with the Chiefs last year. Adams was one of the better collegiate players in the nation when signed out of Los Angeles State last June.

Former Notre Dame basketball star, Gene Duffy, is back for another try in center field. Duffy broke camp with Lincoln last spring but moved to Idaho Falls when he couldn't shake a batting slump.

Dick Kimball, Dennis Higgins, Bob Locker, and Jose Lizondo look like Manager George Noga's starters.

Al Schrader, a $25,000 bonus player from Eureka, Calif., is back as the catcher.

Topeka — If there is a "loaded" club in the league, it appears on paper that it would be Topeka. The Cincinnati farm club has four bonus players optioned from the parent club, which equals the number the Foxes received direct from Baltimore last year.

The four are pitchers John Flavin and Harvey Alex and infielders Tom Harper and Mel Queen.

Miles McWilliams, who caught for the Topeka club two years ago, is back as a first baseman. Harper, former San Francisco State College star, is at second. Mel Queen, son of the former major league pitcher, is at third, and Tommy Helms is the shortstop.

The leading outfield candidate is Martin Dihugo, up from Class D. Dihugo's father was the No. 1 player in Latin America and was generally known as the "Babe Ruth of Latin America."

Stan Jones is the top pitcher at this point. Jones had a 10-10 record a year ago with the Reds. One of the more heralded members of the mound staff is Mickey Mattiace, up from Class D. Mattiace hurled two no-hitters within the space of 10 days at Palatka, Fla., last year.

Larry Rancourt, Al Suarez, and Rod Franz, all of whom have been with the team before, are back as catchers.

Joe Puleo

Joe Puleo Debuts With 11 Victories

Pitcher Joe Puleo, a University of Colorado product has stepped up to the Three-I League after an impressive 1960 debut in the Northern circuit.

Puleo's .611 winning percentage (11-7) at Aberdeen was among the top 10 in the Baltimore farm system. The little (5-9) right-hander posted a 3.51 earned run average, striking out 99 and walking 101 in 177 innings.

The 23-year-old Puleo makes his home in Pueblo, Colo.

New Pride and Confidence in Foxes Evident especially when the weather threatens on game days. The roof hasn't been constructed yet but is expected to be up before the season is much more than a month old.

With Sioux City joining Green Bay on the pro baseball sidelines, the 3-I league is going to the post as a 6-entry circuit for the second time in four years. Cedar Rapids, Burlington and Fox Cities have been the hard core of the league for these four years. The other members — Lincoln, Topeka and Des Moines — are beginning their third seasons in the oldest of Class B leagues.

3 Champs in Row

The 1961 Foxes are expected to unleash some good power — especially in the outfield. But whether the club can maintain its amazing batting-champion streak remains to be seen. (Each of the first three editions of the Foxes produced a batting champion: "Potato" Pascual, Hernan Vila and Pete Ward.).

The infield positions appear to be in capable hands. The only pre-season question perhaps is the limited experience of shortstop Dick Yench. As a unit, though, the '61 quartet is more seasoned at this stage than the '60 infield.

In the catching department, the Foxes have promising newcomers who are a little short on experience.

It's the height of optimism to expect the '61 pitching staff to match the exceptional quality of last year's — when Arne Thorsland, Dean Chance, John Papa, Pat Gillick, Chuck Symeon, Jim Lebew, Dick Hun., etc., set the league on its ear. Yet, stranger things have happened. And, Manager Earl Weaver concedes that in time this year's staff conceivably could be as good.

Many of the '61 hurlers are the same type of hard-throwing lads as last year's group.

There'll be fewer big-bonus players on the pitching staff — as well as the rest of the team — than were present in '60.

The 1961 team is the first Foxes unit to start at home with a clean slate. Each of the three previous teams had the misfortune of opening on the road and coming home with a sub-500 record.

Slick-Fielding Anthony Back With Foxes

Should Have Steadying Effect On Newcomers

"Photi" Anthony, one of the Three-I League's best practitioners of the double play in 1960, will be the only familiar figure in the Fox Cities Foxes' starting lineup for the opening game of 1961.

The reliable Anthony, who has mastered the art of getting the ball away fast on the pivot at second base, is expected to have a steady influence on young shortstop Dick Yench.

Despite hitting only .233 for average last year, Anthony swung an impressive bat in the clutch — driving in 71 runs. His total was only six behind that of Charlie Johnson, who was third high on the pennant-winning club. Anthony

Legal Ways For U. S. to Act in Cuba

International Law, Traditional Policy Are Guideposts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What is needed here is a compass to steer by. International relations nowadays bob around on turbulent seas. The pious words of Khrushchev, with their blatant hypocrisies, are spread around the world. Inside the United States — indeed, inside the Americas as a whole — there still is doubt, skepticism and uncertainty over the policy of the United States toward Cuba.

Lawrence

While President Kennedy's words in his speech last week are in line with historic policy, the question of how to implement those words has yet to be answered. What shall be done?

The United States in this controversy has a fundamental principle to stand on — it must keep the Communists out of Cuba and Latin America. Enough evidence is at hand to show that the Soviets already have sent munitions of war, planes and tanks into Cuba. The United States is in duty bound to seize such equipment and confiscate it. Otherwise, the Monroe Doctrine becomes meaningless.

Basic Law

The justification for such a step is to be found not only in this doctrine — which now has been embraced by the organization of American States — but in basic international law. American lives and property have been endangered. It is up to the United States to furnish protection not only for the lives of its own citizens but for those of other foreign citizens. The United States has long been acting as the trustee in this hemisphere of European nationals as well as Americans.

But wouldn't this be "intervention"? Not as between domestic factions, but only as between the United States and the Soviet Union, which has already intervened in the internal affairs of Cuba. The United States itself seeks no authority over the internal affairs of Cuba — it's up to the Cubans to set up their own government and to hold free elections.

Supposing, however, resistance is encountered? The United States has a right under international law to use military force to suppress any opposition to its seizure of ports, homes or buildings where Americans and their assets are sequestered.

U.S. Prestige

The argument is made that this will hurt to some extent the prestige of the United States in Latin America and elsewhere. It can also be noted that, unless the United States fulfills its obligations under international law, it will forfeit all its prestige. No government ever lost prestige by fighting for its lawful rights.

The United States, therefore, cannot stand merely on the unstable premise that it will encourage revolutionaries engaged in a worthy cause. Aid to revolutionary movements is an age-old custom, but the United States cannot rely on a band of hastily organized revolutionaries to make its own rights secure.

For many years Congress was reluctant to give up the "Platt Amendment" whereby the Cuban government in a treaty, signed in 1903 — five years after the Spanish-American war — had agreed to permit automatic entrance of the forces of the United States if Cuban independence were threatened. This was abandoned in 1934 by the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration when it was believed that Cuba was immune from outside interference. Another step must be taken now in line with the spirit of the "Platt Amendment" to recover the territory of Cuba for the Cubans.

Traditionary Policy

Such a policy — open and above board — is more in keeping with American tradition than clandestine support of revolutionaries who, incidentally, can also be infiltrated by Soviet stooges.

Only a few months ago the United States, under President Eisenhower, undertook an air and sea blockade along the Guatemalan coast to prevent Communist landings. Active protection of American lives and properties in Cuba means an air and sea blockade of all Cuban ports and airfields. But it also means cleaning out Havana and other places in Cuba and deporting all Communist agents and military men, among them the Czech fliers and Red Chinese helpers. Eliminating Communist influence from Cuba would be a lesson to other countries in Latin America, where already several anti-American demonstrations have been launched, including last week an attack on American newspapermen's offices in Caracas, Venezuela, and the destruction of their property.

ican demonstrations have been launched, including last week an attack on American newspapermen's offices in Caracas, Venezuela, and the destruction of their property.

Imitate Soviet

The theory that the United States can imitate the Soviet Union in guerrilla tactics has been given some support in official circles, but, while help of that kind could be extended to liberation movements, the fact remains that this country cannot depend on any military force except its own to protect the lives and properties of Americans and other foreigners in revolution-torn Cuba.

The Charter of the United Nations, moreover, gives to any member "the right of individual or collective self-defense." Hence, an action taken in Cuba by the United States alone in defense of the rights of its citizens is in accord with the basic principles of the U.N. Charter. The only legal requirement is that the move be formally reported to the Security Council, which can later take steps of its own to restore peace — subject, of course, to a United States veto.

(Copyright 1961)

was batting a healthy .275 around July 4 but slipped in the final two months.

Second in Fielding Anthony committed only 15 errors in 450 chances for a .928 fielding average — second best in the league among second basemen who played in 75 or more games.

The 24-year-old infielder is beginning his third season in the Baltimore system and his seventh in pro baseball. Anthony was signed off the William and Mary campus — after hitting .394 — and spent four seasons in the New York Yankee chain. His best bat in the off-season — .301 — was compiled in 1959 in the Class C California League.

Vineyard Gets Chance for Regular Duty

Pitcher Had 'Lost' Season At Vancouver

Only 20 years of age, right-handed pitcher Dave Vineyard is already beginning his third season of professional baseball.

Vineyard is trying to recover from a "lost" season in 1960 at Vancouver. After the Baltimore Orioles drafted the 6-foot-3 husky from the Cleveland chain, they assigned him to the Pacific Coast League club. He pitched only 41 innings in 18 games for Vancouver (for a 0-0 record and a 6.15 earned run average).

Because of the "first-year" waiver rule, Vancouver was forced to keep him all season rather than sending him out for further seasoning.

Vineyard says he's happy about being assigned to the Foxes because he'll have a chance to work regularly. The Newton, West Virginia, 1959 in the Class C California League. The slim, 5-foot-11 Anthony lives in Norfolk, Va. during the off-season — .301 — was compiled in son.

Dave Vineyard

native posted a 3-6 Class D record in his opening season (1959), striking out 64 batters in 61 innings.

John Griffin Noted for Speed Afoot

Many catchers are slow afoot, but the Fox Cities Foxes won't sacrifice any speed when they have John Griffin behind the plate.

Only four players in the Baltimore farm system stole more bases last year than Griffin (two of them were Foxes Frank Montgomery and Bob Saverine). Griffin pilfered 22 bases for Leesburg in the Class D Florida State League.

Griffin's speed is further reflected in his 1960 triple produc-

Joe Pulliam Is Consistent Batsman

Averaged .298 In 'B' League Last Season

Outfielder Joe Pulliam has been a consistent hitter in three different leagues over the last two seasons.

In 1959, Pulliam batted .305 for the Earl Weaver-managed Aberdeen club. Last year, Joe hit .298 in 33 games for Class C Stockton, then rapped .298 for 105 games for Tri-Cities in the Class B Northwest League.

It took the 5-foot-11 Baltimore resident one season to find the range. In his 1958 pro debut (with Aberdeen) he hit only .253.

Pulliam, one of the Foxes' leading hitters in 1961 spring training, got 30 extra base hits at Tri-Cities and drove in 55 tallies. He stole 18 bases — the high water mark for his career.

The 21-year-old Pulliam, whose nickname is "Fish," is popular with his teammates in much the same way as Chuck Weatherspoon was in 1959.

Von Wronski Is Strong Defensively

Compared to Jim Carver at Similar Stage

The potential of Fox Cities catcher Art Von Wronski is similar to that of Jim Carver at the opening of the 1960 season, Manager Earl Weaver says.

After a slow start, Carver improved steadily until he became a competent receiver and feared hitter.

Von Wronski is rated a little better defensively than Carver at a comparable stage but doesn't quite carry Carver's batting power.

The 6-foot-2, 200-pound Von Wronski hit .234 in 92 games for Stockton last season. He hit six homers and drove in 40 runs.

Von Wronski compiled a fielding average of .986, the best mark Tournament today with Mary in the California League among Lena Faulk having broken the catchers who worked at least 75 games.

Now 21 years of age, Von Wronski lives in San Francisco.

tion. He had eight, the seventh high total in the Oriole system. Griffin also hit 12 doubles and two home runs while compiling a .263 average and driving in 50 runs.

Prior to 1960, the 6-foot-2 Griffin had a half-season (55 games) of pro baseball in the Appalachian (rookie) league where he hit .242. Twenty-one years old, Griffin lives in Tyler, Texas.

Mary Lena Faulk Wins Tourney

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The women's golf tour rolled on to Augusta, Ga., for the Titleholders Tournament today with Mary in the California League among Lena Faulk having broken the catchers who worked at least 75 games.

Now 21 years of age, Von Wronski lives in San Francisco.

John Miller

Rookie Miller Rated Highly

Bonus Right-Hander Gained Experience In Winter League

Rookie right-hander John Miller is another in the imposing, long line of bonus pitchers signed in recent years by the Baltimore Orioles.

The 19-year-old Miller, who was signed for an estimated $10,000 last September, made his professional debut in the Arizona Winter Instructional League.

Earl Weaver, who managed the Baltimore entry in the league, has termed Miller one of the best looking young pitchers he has ever seen.

Miller, a 6-foot-2-inch 195-pounder, won a decision for Baltimore over Pittsburgh during this spring's exhibition schedule.

A former standout in Baltimore prep ranks, Miller hopes one day to do the "local boy makes good" routine and pitch in Memorial Stadium.

Andy Phillip Head Coach Of Majors

CHICAGO (AP) — Andy Phillip, one of the University of Illinois' all-time greats, Sunday was named head coach of the Chicago Majors, one of eight teams in the new American Basketball League, which will begin operations this fall.

Phillip, 39, was an All-American at Illinois during the 1940's when Doug Mills put together the famous Whiz Kids. His appointment was announced by Abe Saperstein, owner of the Majors, acting commissioner of the new league and boss man of the Harlem Globetrotters.

Every Qualification "Andy brings absolutely every needed qualification to the job," said Saperstein. "He has tremendous background as a player all the way from high school through college and more than a decade in professional ranks. He has real dedication to basketball. He is smart. He is experienced."

Phillip set a host of Illinois and Big Ten basketball records, many of which have been erased because of basketball's stepped up tempo.

at the initial meeting with two members from last year not being present. The two were Trinity and Presbyterian.

What can 50 years of experience mean to you?
Fifty years ago, when Employers Mutuals of Wausau opened for business, we began working in a unique way. And we've continued to work that way ever since. For example, you may find that all Workmen's Compensation Insurance policies are basically alike. That is, the words are pretty much the same. But what sets us apart is the interpretation of those words and the way we put that interpretation into action. And that's how we've gained an enviable reputation. That reputation is based on our unexcelled claims service, and our experience in accident prevention... experience that means lower costs to policyholders. We'd like to tell you how our experience can serve you. Won't you call us, please?
